Posse Hunts
Animal Which
Attacked Man

LIBBY, Mont. (AP)—More than 250 heavily-armed men combed the rugged Kootenai forest south of here today for a bear which apparently snatched a two-year-old girl from her family's tent near a logging camp Sunday.

Undersheriff Ole Fagerberg identified the child as Ida May Curtis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer E. Curtis of Deer Lodge, Mont.

Fagerberg quoted Mrs. Curtis as telling this story of the incident:

Two older Curtis children were playing near the tent while the family was having a picnic.

Suddenly, the youngsters screamed they had seen a bear come out of the shelter "hopping on three legs."

Mrs. Curtis rushed into the tent and discovered the child was missing. When she ran outside the bear had disappeared into the wilderness.

"She didn't see the child in the tent, so she took it for granted the bear had gotten it," Fagerberg said.

FIND BLOODSTAINS

Bloodstains were found in the tent, he added.

He said authorities had not been able to determine what type of bear it was, its size or color.

Fagerberg said all available men—sheriff's officers and volunteers—were thrown into the hunt as soon as the child's disappearance was reported about 7 p.m.

Two bloodhounds were sent by truck from Deer Lodge, 300 miles from Libby. They were expected to arrive here early today.

The family was brought to Libby late Sunday night and placed in a private home after a short interview with authorities.

A bear last week attacked Edward Stark, 27, of St. Paul, Minn., in a sleeping bag at a campground in nearby Glacier National Park.

Stark suffered a torn left ear, a ripped scalp and tooth-punctures on one hand.

Thomas, Meraw Ready For Strait Attempts

Bert Leaves Pt. Angeles Early Tuesday;
Ann in First Assault Midnight Same Day

Juan de Fuca Strait will face challenges number 12 and 13 in the next two days if weather is favorable.

Persistent Bert Thomas of Tacoma will take off from the U.S. shore at a point near the Ediz Hook Coast Guard Station, at 5:25 a.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Ann Mundigel Meraw of Vancouver will leave Clover Point, foot of Moss Street, between midnight Tuesday and 1 a.m. Wednesday for her first attempt at the unconquered crossing.

Thomas' attempt will be his first on the South-North route, his fifth try in all.

Both swimmers are eligible for The Times $1,000 prize for the first person to cross the Strait in either direction. In addition, Thomas will be trying for a Port Angeles purse of $1,800 offered to the first person to swim from the U.S. shore to Victoria.

COURSE SECRET

Mrs. Meraw's course is still secret. Her navigator will be veteran fisherman Gus Norman, who has sailed in coast waters for nearly 40 years.

Her coach, Pat Roach of Tacoma, who gives her a "50-50" change of making the swim. Sponsor is Accurate Athletic Club, also of Tacoma.

Thomas' carefully charted course, planned by three U.S. navigators, call for him to leave on high-water slack; swim straight north until he catches the ebb then angle out toward Race Rocks, in the vicinity of which he hopes to catch the flood tide and ride in with it.

LOOKS GOOD

Bert said this morning: "If I can reach the turning point at the Race, I should be home free."

He made a five-mile practice swim from Ediz Hook Sunday morning, and said "things look pretty good from this side."

Thomas had a brief workout this morning, then went down to Tacoma for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Fred Diamond.

Lead vessel in the Thomas flotilla will be the luxury yacht King Bacardi. His navigators are Capt. Loring Hyde and Capt. Douglas Nicholson of the Puget Sound Pilots' Association (cross-Strait equivalent, of B.C. Pilotage Authority); and Don Lusk, Port Angeles manager of Foss Towing Company.

Rematch Plans Fail

TORONTO (BUP)—Efforts to arrange a rematch between the University of British Columbia eight and the Royal Henley Regatta-winning rowers from the University of Pennsylvania have fallen through.

A rematch was being planned for this year's Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, but Jerry Ford, assistant coach of the Penn crew, reported that the crew was breaking up for the year and would not be available.

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCMP has been asked to reconsider its decision to charge higher annual rates for police protection. Davie Fulton (PC-Kamloops) told the Commons today that the higher rates will have a serious effect on many British Columbia municipalities.

60 Canadians Drown In Tragic Holiday Toll

3 Children
Drown in B.C.;
2 Car Deaths

(By The Canadian Press)

Seven persons met violent death in holiday accidents in British Columbia during the long Dominion Day weekend—five by drowning.

Three of the drowning victims were children. Traffic accidents accounted for the other two fatalities.

Richard Oreille Hobbs, 17, of Enderby and Wallace Aitken, of Kamloops, were drowned in Canim Lake in the Cariboo, 220 miles northeast of Vancouver. Hobbs failed in a bid to rescue the second youth who got into difficulties while swimming. Both bodies were recovered.

Six-year-old Ivan Tymkiw was drowned and his father rescued after a fishing mishap at Deep Cove, near Vancouver.

The boy fell into a pool where the pair were fishing and the father almost lost his life in a rescue attempt. He was revived by artificial respiration.

Four hours of non-stop artificial respiration by a relay team of 15 persons failed to revive five-year-old David Bruce Gordon of Vancouver, who fell into Silver Creek near Hope. He was on a fishing and camping trip with his parents.

The body of Tony Brown, 7, of Youbou, was found in Lake Cowichan Sunday night after he had been missing from his home four hours.

The traffic victims were Thomas Boucher, 32, and Fred Gritchen, 21.

Gritchen, of Grand Forks, was killed when his light delivery truck hit an embankment 11 miles north of Trail. Boucher died in a head-on collision in Vancouver.

Three other persons were killed in a variety of accidents during the week-end not attributable to the holiday.

A 60-year-old logger was killed on the job at Campbell River; a 28-year-old man jumped to his death from a hotel balcony in Vancouver, and a middle-aged Toronto woman died from alcohol poisoning after a week-long drinking party in Vancouver's east end.

Liberals 'Win Another Seat

EDMONTON (BUP)—The Liberal party has now won 10 seats in the Alberta Legislature compared to 36 for the Social Credit government.

Alfred Macyk was conceded victory in the Redwater riding after the first count of ballots was completed. He had 2,214 compared to 1,739 votes for Social Crediter Peter Chaba, who held the seat in the last House.

Second counts will be necessary in 11 ridings to decide a final winner under the transferable vote system.

Britain, U.S. Unfair South African Says

Cabinet Minister Asks More Sympathetic
Consideration for Apartheid Policies

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Eric H. Louw of South Africa said today Canadian, British and American newspapers are "picking on" South Africa.

He appealed for more sympathetic consideration for his government's policy of apartheid-segregation of the black and white races.

He told a press conference that the blacks are well treated and well looked after. But they couldn't be given the full franchise because there are five blacks for every white in South Africa and in 50 years, with the vote, they would control the country.

"We are battling to maintain the white civilization in South Africa," he said. If the black race was given the vote, white civilization would "go by the boards and it would be the end of the white man in Africa."

The UN had no right to interfere in South Africa's domestic affairs. It continued such

JAMMED BRIDGE FALLS; 2 KILLED, 5 INJURED

CHEROKEE, N.C. (UP)—Five of an estimated 100 persons thrown 15 feet onto jagged rocks of the Oconaluftee River bed when a footbridge collapsed Sunday are in critical condition today. Two others died of injuries.

The 150-foot bridge gave way shortly before noon when it was jammed with holiday tourists.

At the moment of the crash, according to those at the scene, several small boys were jumping up and down at the bridge's centre.

St. Laurent Bows On Defence Bill

Accedes to Tory Demand
For Review in 3 Years

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent today bowed to opposition demands and agreed to make it possible for any member of parliament to call for reconsideration of the wide powers of the Defence Production Act in three years' time.

He made the concession as the Progressive Conservatives carried their opposition to indefinite extension of the extraordinary powers into the seventh day of the marathon debate. The powers are requested in a bill to make the defence production department permanent and extend the powers indefinitely beyond July 31, 1956.

Mr. St. Laurent's undertaking was the same as that granted to the Commons in 1950 during Conservative opposition to wide powers contained in the Emergency Powers Act, allowed to lapse last session.

Opposition Leader Drew did not immediately indicate whether his party will agree to accept Mr. St. Laurent's proposal.

Mr. St. Laurent's offer came at a stage in the debate where it appeared neither side would yield on the issue. Conservative members were stating they would keep up the long debate as long as parliamentary rules would permit and one week ago presented a motion to kill the bill. The motion permitted the 35 Conservatives who had spoken up to that time to speak again, thus prolonging the debate.

Mr. St. Laurent's speech was the 70th in the debate. Earlier today he had been accused of showing "contempt for Parliament and the press" for not having entered the debate up to that time.

Living Costs
Down 1/2 Point
During May

OTTAWA (CP)—The consumer price index dropped by one-half point during May to 115.9 from 116.4, reflecting the biggest decline in living costs in almost two years.

The drop, following two consecutive monthly increases in the cost-of-living yardstick, resulted from lower food and automobile prices and other small declines in clothing and household items, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The lone major increase was in the cost of shelter, reflecting a continuous rise to a new high in rents and home-ownership costs.

POTATO PRICES DOWN
It was the biggest drop in the consumer price index since October, 1953, when the yardstick also fell by one-half point to 116.2 from 116.7. Since then there have been various minor fluctuations upwards and downwards.

Police Probe Ready
VANCOUVER (BUP)—R. H. Tupper, appointed to conduct the Royal Commission inquiry into charges of graft, corruption and misbehavior among Vancouver police officers, will begin hearings Tuesday.

Car Crashes Kill 30 On Crowded Highways; Seven Deaths in B.C.

(By The Canadian Press)

Canada's waterways took first place among the causes of fatalities during the Dominion Day week-end.

A Canadian Press survey shows that in the period from 6 p.m. Thursday until 6 a.m. today 96 persons lost their lives from causes directly attributable to holiday activity. Another 22 died in accidents not related to holiday activity.

Of the 96 holiday deaths, 60 were drownings, 30 were caused by traffic accidents and six people died from miscellaneous causes.

Ontario's fatality toll was the highest. Forty-one died in the heat-battered province during the week-end. Of these 27 drowned, 10 died in traffic accidents and four died from other causes.

Quebec had a total of 28 deaths: 20 drownings, seven traffic deaths and one man was killed while making a demonstration parachute jump to a holiday crowd.

Maritime deaths totalled 11. New Brunswick had eight—three drownings and five traffic fatalities; Nova Scotia had one traffic death. Newfoundland had one traffic and one drowning fatality. Prince Edward Island was the only fatality-free province in the country.

In the Western Provinces 16 persons died in holiday accidents. Nine drowned and seven were killed in traffic accidents.

A breakdown by provinces shows that Alberta had two drownings and three traffic deaths; Manitoba had two drownings and one traffic death; British Columbia counted four drownings and two traffic fatalities and Saskatchewan registered one traffic death.

The 22 deaths from non-holiday activities included seven industrial deaths, two murders, two suicides and three suffocations, as well as other deaths.

The highest previous fatality toll recorded in Canada was the four-day Dominion Day holiday in 1952 when 100 persons lost their lives from all causes. There were 35 traffic deaths and 34 drownings that weekend.

497 KILLED IN U.S.

CHICAGO — Traffic deaths mounted toward a new Fourth of July holiday record today as motorists by the millions jammed U.S. highways.

Latest compilation showed 280 deaths on the highways since 6 p.m. Friday. Drownings totaled 123. There were six dead in plane crashes and 88 from miscellaneous causes for an overall fatality total of 497.

Union Ss. Men Out on Strike; Many Ports Hit

Stewart Loses
Only Service

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Queen Charlotte Islands and a number of small northern British Columbia ports were without regular shipping service today as the Seafarers' International Union AFL-TLC struck the Union Steamships Ltd.

The strike, involving about 350 seamen, went into effect at noon Sunday and caught one of the company's six passenger vessels and seven freighters berthed in Vancouver. Another three arrived Sunday night.

Norm Cunningham, SIU port agent, said union members would bring vessels now in B.C. coastal waters back to Vancouver before joining picket lines.

A prolonged strike would seriously affect a number of coastal communities and the 3,200 inhabitants of the Queen Charlotte Islands who depend upon the steamship company for movement of heavy freight and much of their fresh foodstuffs.

One of the hardest-hit points is the lumbering and mining centre of Stewart, situated at the head of the Portland canal 200 miles north of Prince Rupert. The 1,000 inhabitants of Stewart, without rail service of any kind and no daily air service, depend on Union Steamships for all mail and freight service although a small airport is available for charter plane flights.

ATOMS FOR PEACE

Atom Railway Latest Study

(This is another in a series of 12 articles discussing the prospects and problems of harnessing atomic power to peaceful uses. The author is a distinguished science reporter who spent a year collecting the material from which the articles were written. He has written this from a U.S. point of view, but since Canada is taking a leading part in atomic production for peacetime uses the general theme applies to this country.)

By DAVID O. WOODBURY

CHAPTER VII THE ATOM ON WHEELS

Highly speculative, but quite possible, is atomic power on the railroads. No transportation engineer, so far as we know, has yet given serious consideration to it.

However, the department of physics of the University of Utah has made a thorough study.

In 1953 their graduate course in nuclear technology, under Dr. L. B. Borst, co-operated with the AEC in initiating a railroad study.

Dr. Borst immediately put his students to work on the problem, first obtaining support from the Union Pacific Railroad, General Electric, Westinghouse, General Motors, and others expert in the field.

They found the only real economic incentive for atomic power for rail transportation comes from a possible reduction in fuel costs.

An atomic-powered locomotive was found to be technically feasible. It would be a 7,000-horsepower unit having 12 driving axles and a total length of 160 feet.

The reactor would be of the "water boiler" design, 2x3x3 feet, having an output of 30,000 kilowatts of heat in the form of steam at 250 pounds per square inch.

Power transmission through conventional geared generators and electric traction motors would insure good operating performance. Electric locomotive performance could be achieved because of the overload ability of the reactor. Short-term power of 9,000 to 12,000 horsepower can be attained.

'Miss Canada' Once a Victorian

'MISS CONGENIALITY', TOO

Victoria's Doreen Wells Named Canada's 'Miss Swim Suit of '55'

By TONY DICKASON

Hold it fella, she's back, and as "Miss Swim Suit of 1955" for Canada!

That's Victoria's pretty velvet-eyed Doreen Wells, one of the 10 finalists in the "Miss Canada" contest just ended in London, Ont., at which another former Victorian, Delyce (pronounced Dallas) Gale Smith, 23, took the top award.

Pert 18-year-old Doreen, chosen at the recent Jaycee fair here as "Miss Victoria" and the city's "May Queen," captured two awards in competition with 23 lovelies from throughout Canada.

She won both "Miss Swim Suit" and "Miss Congeniality" cups. She got off the plane here with her mother shortly after 10 a.m., and went right to work at her B.C. Telephone Co. job, although "a little tired," from the week-long festivities.

"I had a wonderful time, really wonderful, marvelous!" she said.

Competition, she admitted was "tough," but agreed with the decision of the five male and three women judges that the logical choice was Delyce, who gets a $1,000 scholarship to further her drama studies.

She now lives in Whitehorse, Y.T., and worked here in the lingerie department at Eaton's from Nov., 1951, to May, 1952.

"Boy, was she pretty," a department employee recalled today. "Very much so." She's a brunette, like Doreen.

Said Victoria's darling: "The competitors were nice, all of them, and there was absolutely no jealousy between the girls."

Each night the assembly of beauties put on performances in London's Queen's Park, because talents and personality also counted heavily in the judging.

Doreen's way was paid to London and return—where there was a continual round of meeting civic officials and touring other cities and towns in the area—by the Junior Chamber here.

Would you compete in another beauty contest Miss Wells?

"Well, maybe, but certainly not right away."

God Will Wage War Jehovah Throng Told

VANCOUVER (CP)—Nathan H. Knott of New York, principal minister of Jehovah's Witnesses, said Sunday that both the world's major power blocs face "world conquest by God's kingdom."

"Whatever kind of coexistence there may be for a time between communism and the West, the basis for it will be, not mutual love, but mutual fear," Mr. Knott said in an address winding up the five-day rally of Jehovah's Witnesses at Empire Stadium here.

The rally was one in a series of world-wide conventions being held by the Witnesses this year.

WIFE BELTED, HUSBY JAILED, BOTH UNHAPPY

TURIN, Italy (Reuters) — A jealous husband who padlocked his pretty wife in a medieval-style chastity belt whenever he left her alone was arrested in a nearby village for maltreating her.

A doctor, called by a neighbor when the 31-year-old wife fell ill, discovered the chastity guard—a home-made garment of tough linen reinforced with a belt of iron wire, locked by a padlock requiring two keys.

Jealous medieval knights used to lock their wives in similar belts while they went crusading. The husband, a 29-year-old workman, travelled to Turin daily to work.

About 22,000 adherents of the religious organization from the four western provinces and the Pacific Northwest United States braved heavy showers to attend the closing sessions.

"Fear of world conquest—this is what haunts both political blocs of today's divided world," said Mr. Knott, who is president of the Watch Tower Society.

"This fear blinds the nations to what Almighty God can do. It keeps even Christendom with her hundreds of millions of copies of the Holy Bible from seeing what all nations certainly face is world conquest by neither the West nor the East, but by heaven above: World conquest by God's kingdom, and that soon."

Saturday 16,800 followers heard F. W. Franz, vice-president of the Watch Tower Society, compare the battle of Armageddon to a wine press.

"At this Armageddon wine press, the flow of blood from the smitten nations will be a flood," said Mr. Franz.

"Take the road marked refuge and flee to the refuge city under the high priest, Jesus Christ."

Soviets Unveil New Jet Fleet, Giant 'Copters'

Inter-Continental Warplanes Feature Moscow Air Show

By SIDNEY WEILAND

MOSCOW (Reuters)—A new jet transport plane, a huge twin-engine helicopter and two new types of jet fighters were shown Sunday as Russia paraded her might of the jet era in the annual air display at Tushino airport near Moscow.

Western observers, noting the appearance of many intercontinental turbo-prop and jet multi-engine bombers, said this indicates a rapid development in Soviet long-range striking power.

Russia's air chief marshal, P. F. Zhigarev, opened the display and said the Soviet Union has first-class modern aircraft capable of flying long distances at high speeds and in unfavorable weather conditions.

PROTOTYPE LIKE COMET

The display was capped by a surprise flypast of Russia's new jet transport with swept-back wings. Unannounced on the official program, the silver twin-jet twin-engine transport arrived at the end of the 30-minute display.

About the same size as Britain's Comet, it is believed to be the prototype of the Soviet jet airliner although it may also be intended for use as a military transport. Its appearance followed a story in the newspaper literary gazette Saturday which said the Soviet airline Aeroflot will be flying airliners between Moscow and Peking in a year or two.

Thirty-six single-engine helicopters and four big new twin-rotor helicopters, believed capable of carrying 25 to 30 fully armed men, took part.

The aerobatic display began with nine Yak-18 planes piloted by women. Then seven big bombers with swept-back wings, each powered by four turbo-prop engines, roared across the field.

Fifty new twin-jet fighters screamed across the field at 500 feet. They were followed by 47 new single-jet fighters, apparently the successor to the MIG-17 and believed equivalent to the American Super Sabre F-100 or the French Super Mystere.

One qualified observer said these planes have "much more sweep back" than the MIG-17 and may be capable of faster-than-sound speed in level flight.

A statement from the U.S. public health service said its technical advisory committee met with some representatives of vaccine producers. It said the experiences of the manufacturers in applying new rules for producing and testing vaccine were discussed.

Family Jinxed
PORTSMOUTH, Eng. (CP)—A motorist died in a crash with a bus near Portsmouth Sunday night—and his wife was fatally injured when an ambulance skidded and overturned while taking her to hospital. The driver was William Worley, 26. His injured wife Margerie, 23, was transferred to a second ambulance after the first capsize, but was dead when it reached hospital.

NEW BRITGTON, England (AP)—Officials of this town's annual bathing beauty contest announced Sunday that matrons will inspect all entrants to make sure none uses padding.

AWOL Airmen Admits Killing Three in Family

Feared Tip-Off To Authorities
GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Police charged airman Ellis Lauhon, 26, with murder Sunday after, they said, he admitted killing three members of a family because he feared they might turn him over to the air force for being absent without leave.

Shot to death in Dickinson, Tex., June 22 were Mrs. Ruby McPherson, 42, her mother, Mrs. Zola Norman, 63, and her son, George, 12.

Lauhon was arrested in Mexico where he attempted to sell a car belonging to Mrs. McPherson. Found on him were two rings since identified as belonging to Mrs. McPherson and a .22-calibre pistol, police said, adding that the Dickinson family was slain with such a gun. The airman was flown here Saturday and three charges of first-degree murder was filed against him.

Lauhon was quoted by police as saying he tried to hold up the McPhersons as they were driving home from a trip. They said he told Mrs. McPherson he was absent without leave and quoted her as saying: "I think I'll turn you over to the air police."

Then, Lauhon related, she changed her mind, let him drive, and offered to give him money when they got to Dickinson. Lauhon was in bed at the McPherson home when he decided to kill the family, police quoted him as saying.

33 SHIPS SAIL AT NOON

Trans-Pacific Race Draws Record Entry
SAN PEDRO, Calif. (UP)—An all-time record fleet of 53 yachts set sail at noon for the 2,225-mile trans-Pacific yacht race from Los Angeles harbor to Honolulu. It is the longest regularly scheduled yacht race held anywhere in the world.

Competing in the race which is based on the handicap system. It will be the 19th annual sailing of the sailing classic. With good winds, at least 12 of the larger boats could break the present elapsed time record of 10 days, 10 and 13 minutes set in 1949 by Richard S. Rheem's Morning Star.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain (AP)—The American yacht Ticonderoga was reported Sunday 600 miles off Cape Finisterre, northwest extremity of Spain and 860 miles from the finish line of the 4,200-mile race from Havana to San Sebastian.

'GOOFED', 'SLEPT', 'FLIRTED'

Need for Summer School Told With Great Candor
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oklahoma City school officials undertook a poll to find out why high school students go to summer school.

Some of the answers received were revealing. One 17-year-old stated simply, "I goofed."

The students who failed subjects were asked to give their reason. "I went to sleep in class," a 17-year-old boy said.

"Kicked out!" was another candid answer.

"The lack of intelligence and failure to anticipate the teacher's mentality," wrote another. "I just sat around and flirted with the boys," a 16-year-old girl admitted.

"I failed because my teacher didn't care if you learned or not so long as you were quiet." That's the student's spelling for "No talking, please."

A 15-year-old boy, replying to "What subject do you like the least?" summed up his dislikes in one word: "School."

Hong Kong Story Says New Revolt Fought in China

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Peiping radio reported today Communist security police in a campaign against counter-revolutionaries, have uncovered a number of attempted guerrilla armed revolts in the railway town of Ichun, in Kiangsi province, about 450 miles southwest of Shanghai.

The broadcast said 31 "culprits, including landlords, former Nationalist soldiers and other counter-revolutionary elements" have been arrested. It claimed they were members of an organization called "China's Mainland Salvation Army," and were found with hand grenades, bullets and documents.

17-Year-Old Weds Pretty Gym Teacher

ASHBY DE LA ZOUCH, Eng. (Reuters)—A 17-year-old schoolboy athlete who eloped with his pretty gym teacher of 23 from an English co-educational school married her here today.

The boy, Norman Bircumshaw, and the teacher, Celia Timmins, drove away together in her little auto from the Tipton House grammar school at Chesterfield, about 50 miles from here, on June 13 and went into hiding in Scotland.

They originally planned to get married in Scotland where the consent of Norman's parents would not be necessary but their parents pursued them.

Today the parents were present when Norman, curly-haired former school cricket captain, and dark-haired Celia were married at Holy Trinity Church, a few yards from the Timmins home.

"We ran away together to prove how fond we were of each other," the schoolboy declared. "We have won."

Celia has resigned from the school and they are both hoping to find work.

ATOMIC REACTORS

Four atomic reactors are to be erected near Annan in Dumfries, Scotland, by the U. K. Atomic Energy Authority.

CIVIC POLLS RAIDED, SAYS QUEBEC PAPER

MONTREAL (CP)—The Gazette says in a newspaper story that gangs of armed men raided at least three polls during municipal elections Saturday in neighboring Riviere des Prairies.

In one case, the Montreal daily says a scrutineer was forced to leave a poll while ballot boxes were methodically emptied on the floor.

No arrests were reported, the newspaper adds. Final counts from the town's 14 polls were not yet available.

Last month, the town's entire police force under chief Herve Allard was dismissed by the mayor.

Hemorrhoids (Piles)

European Research Scientists Develop New Formula Small Supply Reaches Canadian Market

When Diva Laboratories of Zurich, Switzerland, solved after ten years of intensive research, the many diversified problems and obstacles that have confronted the processing of two vital substances, an entirely new field of treatment lay at the hands of their research chemists. Their products, now selling under the name of "Pep" have brought about some of the most staggering results in the treatment of certain skin diseases. Today, and for the first time, people who are troubled with the distressing symptoms associated with hemorrhoids are now able to share the healing and soothing qualities that have been made possible through the intricate processing of Linoleic and Linolenic Acid.

"Pep" ALGAN (elastin in tube with applicator) and "Pep" SULGAN (suppositories) form the new product on the market today for this specific purpose. You will find the results outstanding. Just hand this announcement to your family doctor or ask for "Pep" ALGAN and "Pep" SULGAN.

Hot, muggy weather can ruin your appetite, thus stop your getting all the vitamins and minerals you need, leaving you tired, nervous, irritable, completely fagged out. Here's a way to help you feel better fast, to help combat those symptoms of vitamin deficiency. JUST TAKE 2 ENERJETS CAPSULES EACH DAY.

It's no wonder so many people notice how quickly ENERJETS help them feel better again, help give them renewed strength and vigour. There's no mystery about it! ## A Question of Principle

IN AN OTTAWA REPORT ELSE-where on this page it is suggested that a number of Liberal members of Parliament are not in favor of granting to Defence Minister Howe the almost unlimited powers represented in the Defence Production Act. But they are supporting the Government measure because they fear that one more frustration will cause Mr. Howe to take a dim view of political life and decide to retire.

Since rumors of Prime Minister St. Laurent's retirement are again being heard, although without any official encouragement, it is feared that the loss in the early future of two such Government assets would seriously weaken the Liberal administration.

Such an effect might well be true, but the event is dependent upon two large "ifs".

In any case the possible loss of a valued and extremely able cabinet minister should not be the criterion for passage of any law. The laws are greater than the man, and should be so treated. To say less is to maintain that party security or advantage comes before national interest or constitutional considerations—a stand with which few Canadians would agree.

The Defence Production Act would give to the Minister wide powers usual in this country only during the emergency of war. It would give him the powers without limitation as to time, without even the need for year-to-year renewal commonly employed in such cases. It is on this point that much of the opposition to the measure has been concentrated.

It cannot be denied that although we live in what is technically peace-time, we are, if not in an emergency, at least constantly on the verge of one. To the modern practice of waging wars without prior declaration or warning—in the tradition of Hitler's pounce on Poland and Japan's "infamy" at Pearl Harbor—has been added the threat of atomic warfare. Such a combination, against a background of international tension and often fist-shaking, creates a situation that at any time could become a real emergency.

It is this situation which Mr. Howe has in mind in asking for the special powers embodied in the bill. This is an argument far in advance of that which apparently carries weight with some of his supporters: that the Minister's patience must not be too sorely tried.

Mr. Howe, an outstanding engineer and businessman, has won a reputation as an executive who gets things done. It was fortunate indeed for Canada that such a man was available to play a leading part in war production and the economic reconstruction that followed the conflict. On this basis his career and his fame are unshakable.

He used the powers conferred on him to good effect, and with no deterioration of constitutional rights. But it was always recognized that such extra-powers as were given him were for a limited period only; they were to live for the emergency and to die with it.

The present move to confer unusual powers without a time limit appears to violate certain principles which Canadians have always upheld. Although the world situation may in more than one way be described as emergent, it does not appear to be so to the extent that hard-won and long-established constitutional principles should be abandoned. The periodic review by Parliament, which is implied in extension of a law for annual or other specific and limited periods, should not be written off as unnecessary or unwanted.

It may be true, and we hope it is, that Mr. Howe, as he declared the other day, will be around long after his Parliamentary critics. But Parliament will be around long after Mr. Howe, and in probably much more turbulent times. Its historic powers should in no manner be weakened.

Education to Check Apathy

UNOBTAINABLY IN RECENT weeks the members of the city council have been moving away from extreme secrecy in their committee discussions. The doors are not wide open to the press, but by agreement committee members are now permitted to make public the subjects considered. And they can do this without becoming suspect by their fellows.

As far as it goes, this is a sensible development. The elected representatives of the people earn public confidence when they take the public into their confidence, as they should. They are not private businessmen conducting their own affairs. They are administering a major business of direct concern to every taxpayer.

The need for information on the activities of municipal councils was indicated by Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley D. Black at the Vancouver Island Municipalities convention in Duncan. He expressed the view that one of the most promising ways of overcoming public apathy in the conduct of municipal business resided in education. Without information, there can be no public education. And since the municipalities lack other effective means of reaching the public, they should accept as fully as possible the facilities newspapers offer them.

During the last few years Victoria's electorate has suffered from a lack of information because authorities at the city hall have withheld news. The resulting condition has engendered all the suspicions which must arise when representatives lose contact with the people they represent.

The degree to which news is being made available to reporters at the city hall is not yet adequate. The withdrawal of strict bars against the press has, however, been a step in the right direction. As progress is made along that course a more stable relationship will be established between the council and the voters.

Lowest in Five Years

THE INCOME TAX REDUCTION promised by Finance Minister Walter Harris last April came into effect last Friday. Although it will mean only a few cents a week less to be deducted from individual wage cheques and envelopes, the total for the nation amounts to $85 millions. In other words, this amount will be left with the public to spend as it will, instead of being gathered by the federal Government and spent on national needs.

To that extent the effect will be inflationary—$85 millions of new purchasing power being set free. But the static nature of the price index over the past few months evidently encourages the Government to believe that the move will have no ill effects.

The cut reduces the income tax rate to its lowest point in five years and is predicated on the federal belief that the gross national product will continue to increase. Expanding business and higher incomes, it is estimated, will increase the total national tax revenues and avoid a serious deficit.

The present cut can therefore be viewed in the category of pump-priming, and even though small will be considered by the average tax payer as a step in the right direction.

Tests for Gun Carriers

THE ONTARIO FEDERATION of Anglers and Hunters has evolved a useful suggestion which might be followed here and in other parts of Canada.

It believes prospective hunters should undergo a test before they are allowed out in the woods with guns. The proposal is excellent, and the test should be one of common sense.

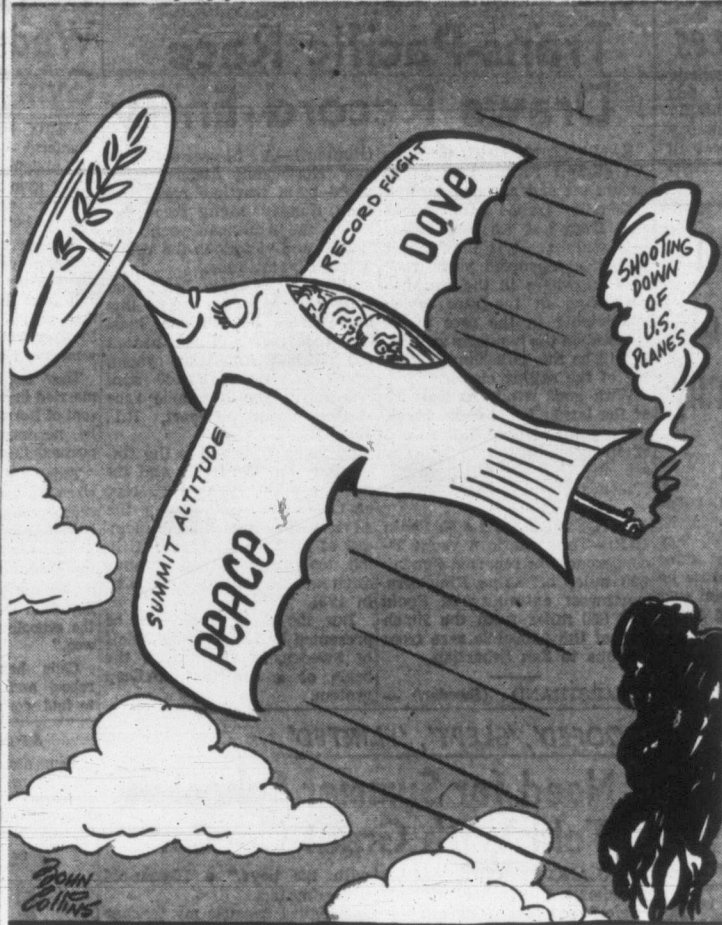

Far too often firearms are placed in the hands of inexperienced or careless people with disastrous results. The idea of determining the competency of the individual before he is trusted with a weapon is a good one. But regulation should not end there.

The right to carry a gun might be made much safer if its continued possession depended on the proper behaviour of the user. A policy of suspending the right to carry a gun in cases in which carelessness or incompetency was shown could remove a serious hazard from the woods.

Perhaps the Ontario organization might be encouraged to expand its scheme, calling first for a series of tests and proceeding with a system which would make possession of a weapon a continuing form of probation.

What Is Russia Really Like?

BY STEWART ALSOP, From Moscow
(Another in a series from the Soviet capital)

WHAT IS Russia REALLY like? The best answer seems to be that Russia is like whatever you want it to be like. In the Soviet Union, you can find what you have come to find. Suppose, for purposes of argument, that you are a visiting "progressive," as pro-Communists are called in these parts. You can then report with enthusiasm and unchallengeable accuracy to the comrades back home. You can report that Moscow has broad streets kept scrupulously clean and lined with handsome buildings. You can report that the people look reasonably well fed (the ladies a trifle too well fed, by Western standards) and fairly decently clothed. You can report that the standard of living has risen continuously since the war.

You can report that industrial production is increasing at a considerably greater rate, in percentages, than in the United States. You can further report that the Soviet Union has scored great technological achievements, notably in such key fields as nuclear energy and jet propulsion.

NEW AIRCRAFT
If you happened to be in the right place at the right time, you might even be able to offer eyewitness proof of such an achievement. This is unlikely, since Moscow is a very big city and the sky is often overcast. But as all Moscow now knows, the Soviets have been flying their remarkable new aircraft over Moscow continuously, although at irregular intervals, ever since the famous overflights in early May.

As a "progressive," your list would by no means end with such technical triumphs. You could point also to such marvellous artistic achievements as the Moscow ballet. You could even report—accurately, in the view of all Western observers—that the Soviet people feel a greater sense of personal security than they have felt for years.

All these things, from the clean streets to the jet planes, are unquestionably true. But suppose that, instead of being a "progressive," you are a "decadent bourgeois." On the most decadently selfish level, you may complain of a lack of such small luxuries as well turned out women and good food in pleasant surroundings. But your doubts may go a bit deeper than this level.

For example, behind the handsome buildings on the clean streets, you may find strange shantytowns which remind you of the American South in the thirties. With their unpaved roads and hand pumps and sagging walls, these wooden villages inside a great metropolis are a curious phenomenon, oddly out of place in Utopia.

Again, as a decadent bourgeois, you may be surprised by the close-packed, shoving crowds in every store and market, and dismayed by the prices these crowds are willing and eager to pay. In Western eyes, these prices look strangely un-Utopian.

But what you miss most, naturally enough, are precisely those "decadent, bourgeois" things that make up the Western way of living. Drive in to Leningrad from the airport, for example, as this reporter did on his arrival in Russia, and you suddenly realize how immensely wide is the gulf which separates you from the summer life of the lawn mower and the open air movie.

Instead of the mushroom growth of small houses you see in the suburbs of a Western city, you see great, imposing, clumps of apartment buildings for workers, hideous but functional. And instead of the bumper-to-bumper traffic, you see a surging, unceasing flow of people on broad streets, purposeful, industrious, antlike.

What most dastards the "unprogressive" Westerner, in short, is that this is a system totally alien to anything he has ever known.

SCRUFFY UNIFORMITY
There is, it must be said, no sense of fear here at all at least for the visiting foreigner. But there is a kind of scruffy self-righteous uniformity. Above all, there is a lack of that easy freeness to which decadent bourgeois types are eccentrics attached.

But this lack should not be permitted to obscure the fact that this alien system works. This Soviet way of life functions. It increases industrial production at an impressive rate, it produces nuclear weapons and remarkable aircraft, and at the same time it feeds and clothes the people adequately by their standards.

To the "decadent bourgeois" way of life, the life of the lawn mower and the open air movie, the Fifth Amendment and the right of dissent, it represents a greater challenge than this reporter had realized before.

Chips

BY DAVE BROCK

A VANCOUVER restaurant advertises that its coffee is untouched by human hands. I don't know how they used to make their coffee there in the days before they made this startling claim. But one gets a vividly unpleasant picture of grimy-handed chefs dipping their paws in the coffee out of mere spite. And even when they are cross or hysterical on a Saturday night, jumping into the coffee urn or vat with their boots on, pretending it is a wine-press, and mistaking the juice of the bean for the blood of the grapes.

Here I was interrupted by a man who says nobody gets into a wine-press with his boots on. How does he know? Has he visited every vineyard in the world and does he remember them all? This man is obviously an impostor, unfit to be touched by human hands. Into the coffee with him. Well, as I was saying, I can imagine these angry and heretical cooks hurling old dish-rags into the coffee, and generally behaving in a scandalous way that would keep any coffee drinker awake by day as well as at night. But I bet they never had pyjamas in their cider. I did.

IT happened this way. Years ago I saw an advertisement for cider by the barrel. It was shipped by an enterprising citizen of the Okanagan; I will not tell you which city. He shipped me a barrel down to the coast, and it stood during a hot week-end in a freight shed, and it blew up, and the men in the freight shed complained to me about it, and I complained to the Okanagan man, and he sent me another barrel at a great discount. This time it blew up on the train. (I'm not making this up. It's all true.) The freight man on the train was ever crosser than the men in the shed. I expect he got mud in his eye... a phrase that had hitherto been unreal and even vaguely jolly to him.

I told the Okanagan man that this nonsense must cease. If you drench honest freight men with over-exuberant cider every few days, they will start civil proceedings. The excitement, on the other hand, may be the reverse of civil. Cider that explodes all over our great railway system doesn't sound very legal or even patriotic.

THE man in the Okanagan gave me a third barrel, free of charge this time, though he added that he could not keep on this way indefinitely. He said he had invented a pressure-valve (though he spelt it "presser") and all the bad nasty presser would take itself off through this valve of his own invention.

When the barrel arrived it was still unexploded. Loud cheers from the freightmen. There were only two things wrong. One was that the cider was utterly horrible. It was both mild and beastly... a poor combination. The wretched Okanagan man had filled it with cherries, raspberries, and (I think) a good deal of grey water. The other thing wrong was the valve. It was simply a hole in the barrel stuffed with old pyjamas. Not even pretty pyjamas. Not even new ones. They were the sort of pyjamas that would be given away free at a rummage sale conducted by packrats. Neither in cider nor in coffee would they be at all the type of pyjamas a customer might expect.

AMBULANCE SOUP

DO you know the North End Road, in London's borough of Fulham? There used to be a very lively barrow market there, and there may be one still. Behind the barrows were shops which were also lively. One of them sold "lilywhite tripe," though we found later that the tripe merchant himself was named Lillywhite. And another sold curious cuts of meat which we didn't like to ask about, though we did ask about things like fire-hoses and were told "Them, myte? Them's windpoules. Give a dog a windpoule and 'e's yer friend for loife." Well, at one of the barrows was a man who sold rather shabby or barrow-worn hand-rings, and when he saw my wife staring at them with mild distaste he rushed to their defence.

"Ere y'are, myte," says he to my Missus, he says, "Ere y'are, myte. Clean enough to put in yer soup."

I think, on the whole, this was the most curious advertisement I ever heard in a life devoted to the curious. Not that I plan to tell you much more tonight about pyjama cider and gauze soup. Enough is as good as a feast.

ANGRY BULLS

PRAISING bullfighters in general and one of them in particular, the English dramatic critic Kenneth Tynan wrote that the fighting bull is "the only wild animal that will attack a human being on sight." As a man who has been fighting sentimental snobbery all his life, I wish to stick a few ornamental darts or handkerchiefs into the neck and shoulders of the author of so silly and sweeping a statement. For one thing, many a fighting bull is none too wild until he has been annoyed by things that would drive anyone wild. And for another, the world abounds with animals (mammalian and otherwise) that are only too happy to attack men on sight, or long before sight. For reasons that often seem as good to me as they do to the animals.

Even among the snakes, who are normally a lazy bunch, waiting for you to come and get bitten while they just sit there and don't even offer you your fare, one way... even among the snakes there is the black mamba, who is glad to chase you whichever way you're going. "Hi," says the black mamba, "there's a man over there whaddya know, let's chase him a whole lot, just for luck." Not every black mamba out of ten thousand will do this. But they are much more energetic than Mr. Tynan's bulls.

July 4, 1895 — As usual, a large number of Victorians are celebrating the fourth of July in the U.S. Close to 2,000 are visiting South cities. The St. Kingston last night took over 500 to Port Townsend.

July 4, 1915 — Mr. Justice Murphy is in Nanaimo to open tomorrow the official inquiry into the coal mine disaster which occurred near there Feb. 9, when twenty-one men were drowned. He sits as a royal commissioner.

July 4, 1935 — H.M.S. Danae, 4,850-ton cruiser from the West Indies station, which docked at Esquimalt yesterday, will remain there till July 8, when she will leave on an extended cruise in B.C. waters.

ON THE OTTAWA SCENE

The Heat of Summer Brings a Coolness to Public Office

PRIME Minister St. Laurent's intentions with regard to the next federal election again have become the subject of speculation among back benches. Rumors sifting through the Liberal party ranks suggest that the Number Two man in the cabinet, Mr. Howe, may be retiring before the next ballot battle. These rumors have aroused some anxiety among rank and file Liberals as well as within the cabinet circles, as to whether the P.M. proposes to contest the next election as party leader. Each year as the sessions lengthen into the humid summer months Mr. St. Laurent's enthusiasm, like that of other M.P.'s, begins to wane with weariness. At this period the members of the cabinet cannot be expected to demonstrate any great eagerness for the political life.

However, if Mr. St. Laurent is going to lead the party in the next federal campaign he must make his decision in the next few months. Should he decide to step down he would have to give the organizers at least a year and a half to arrange a national leadership campaign. There are only two years left to the next general election period.

CABINET CONTROVERSY

The setback Mr. C. D. Howe suffered over his original pipeline proposal in the cabinet has made Liberals sensitive to any strenuous opposition raised against him. The M.P.'s on the government side like to see him sitting beside the P.M. in the front benches. They think the cabinet would be weakened if he quit. Consequently anything that might be inclined to set the defence production minister thinking in terms of resigning is to be avoided at all costs.

That is the real reason why the government has not bowed before the filibuster of the Opposition and inserted a time limit in the controversial Defence Production Act amendments. There are several Liberals who are not too lappy with the legislation and would like to see a time limit on the extraordinary powers it grants the minister. But they are keeping quiet.

PROGRESS

Mr. Howe has been obtaining the answers to a number of questions asked him concerning the new gas pipeline proposition, by his cabinet colleagues. The new proposition involving Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited and Tennessee Gas Transmission Company, appears to have some attractive features, including the assurance that at the end of five years a start would be made on completing the line linking Winnipeg with Toronto. However, the federal cabinet wanted additional information when Mr. Howe first broached the new plan which calls for large exports of Canadian gas to the United States through Emerson. Indications are now that approval by the cabinet may be forthcoming before mid-August.

POSTPONED

The gas discussions that were scheduled to take place in Ottawa this month between Prime Minister St. Laurent, Mr. Howe, Premier Manning of Alberta and Premier Frost of Ontario, have been postponed until the Federal Government reaches a decision. They may not even be necessary as the Alberta premier has apparently assured Trans-Canada and Mr. Howe that his approval of the new scheme can be expected. There are reports here too that Mr. Frost has declared there will be no opposition coming from his government.

The old bugbear that keeps reappearing to haunt the Prime Minister has popped up again; that is, rumors that he will be making some Senatorial appointments. However, there is a great deal of smoke this time in the Government lobby indicating that the flames of rumor have been well fanned. It is no secret among the members that Chubby Power has now decided to accept the Senate appointment offered him some time ago. His departure for the Upper House will remove from the Commons one of its most popular and respected members. Another popular member rumored soon to enter the Senate is David Croll, the Liberal from Toronto Spadina.

AMBITIONS

Premier Bennett's program of action for the Social Credit party as published in a Toronto financial paper following an interview with the British Columbia Social Credit leader, has aroused interest at Ottawa, but no alarm.

With Alberta's election out of the way the Social Credit next target, according to Mr. Bennett, will be the House of Commons. He envisaged the capture of the Commons as a two-stage operation. The first stage is to win 90 to 95 seats, excluding Quebec, and form a minority government. The second stage, to be defeated in the House, call another election and then sweep the country.

That apparently is the dream Mr. Bennett likes to dream. And in that dream he undoubtedly sees himself in the role of prime minister. The reaction of other party politicians would be that this was no dream but a nightmare. However they have heard boastful predictions by the Social Crediters before that have not come true.

DEMOLITION

Despite protests from some groups it would now appear that the department of public works intends to proceed with its plan to tear down the old West Block on Parliament Hill. The Parliament Buildings consist of the Centre Block, the East Block and the West Block. The oldest building on the hill is the West Block. Nearly 100 years have passed since it was erected.

The Ottawa Council of Women has described the demolition plan as an "act of vandalism." The building contains the original suite of offices occupied by Canada's first prime minister, Sir John A. Macdonald, including a secret stairway down which he used to make good his escape from job seekers or other persistent would-be callers.

The Government's plan is to dismantle the old building and rebuild it, so that it would provide more efficient office space. The Minister of Public Works, Bob Winters, claims it can be rebuilt so that it will resemble the original structure.

Birds of a Feather

IT'S beginning to think that people get the birds that they deserve.

My neighbor, who is a very capable and conscientious housewife, has had two very capable and conscientious robins building in the wooden box that shelters the electric light meter on a pole outside her kitchen window.

Her robins were a perfect pair. They worked from dawn till dusk building their nest. They hatched the eggs on the appointed date. And even before the young ones had reached the feather stage, the household routine was settled, cut and dried.

Each morning at exactly the same time, the mother robin cleaned the nest.

My neighbor says Mother Robin's organization was faultless. She shoved her children firmly towards the edges of the nest, poking them and prodding them and standing for no nonsense. She made them hang their heads out over the edge, and tucked their legs up tidily. They never disobeyed or wriggled. They simply did what they were told.

The moment they were out from underfoot, Mrs. Robin cleaned the nest till it was absolutely spotless.

As soon as this was done, she cleaned herself—the left wing and under the left wing, the right wing and under the right wing, her tail feathers (left side), her tail feathers (right side).

And when she was all smooth and pretty again, she let the children come indoors.

Father Robin, like most males, stayed away till the cleaning was done. Then he appeared, looking very spruce and spry, with a peace offering of a worm.

This happened every morning, my neighbor says. Just routine. Nothing to it, if you have any sense of method.

Ruth

But I, who have no method in the madness of my housekeeping, am not blessed with tidy robins.

I have barn swallows who, quite frankly, are a mess.

They didn't build themselves a new nest. They simply moved into an old one in the chicken-house.

I never looked to see if they patched it up. If they did, it was a rotten job. Because, yesterday morning, it fell to pieces and crashed on to the board beneath the chicken's roosting perches.

Five young barn swallows fell with it. We found them sprawled and dazed and looking rather cross while their parents swooped round in a state of wild hysteria.

The youngest of the younger generation who had called me from my cooking because "something terrible has happened in the chicken-house" went rushing off to find the last year's robin's nest which had been lying in the woodshed for many, many weeks.

We put the baby swallows into that, and left it on the dropping board at the far end where the hens never roost.

They settled down at once, except for the toughest fledgling who had no intention of staying indoors for anyone.

Off and on, all through today, we've peered in through the window of the chicken-house.

Four of the baby birds are still intact, though the two biggest have taken to sitting on the edge of the nest. We can see the shape of their long, growing wings, and the start of their forked tails.

The nest itself is a mess. No one cleans it. No one seems to bother about the change of house, though the parents dart in and out to feed their young.

I've wasted hours, baby-sitting from a distance.

Next year, for the sake of my own housework, I'll have to settle for a pair of capable and conscientious robins.

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

The Rearing of Children

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Of great interest to me is the work of Dr. Douglas M. Kelley, professor of criminology, at the University of California, who spoke recently at the Texas Medical Association. As he said, the old-fashioned method of raising children was often too strict; so strict that it did harm. It may have broken the spirit of some children, and made others bitter and resentful and anti-social. Then along came the modern school of psychiatry with its teaching that children should be allowed to bring themselves up as best they can, without any discipline or training in self-control; without any idea of being courteous to others or respectful or considerate. No matter how bad a little stinker the child might become, it was all right so long as his ego was not bruised.

I remember reading a book by a man who so believed in never correcting a child or even asking him to stop some very unsocial and annoying behavior that he ran a school for mild psychotic children who, at home, had become unmanageable and highly destructive. This man described with pride how, when one of these boys, on his arrival at the school, knocked out some 35 window panes, he, the teacher, had uttered no word of impatience or reproach; he wanted the boy to know that if that was what he needed to do to express his inner resentments, then, by all means, that is what he should do; the teacher understood and sympathized and was his pal. Apparently, the teacher felt that if the boy were allowed to be a holy terror for years, this would be the best way of developing him into a fine man!

MUST BE LIMITS

What amused me immensely was the naive admission of the writer, a few pages farther on, that later when the "holy terror" discovered a trick that greatly helped his ego and his development into a fine man, he was squelched and angrily ordered to desist—or else. The boy had found that by tearing up the telephone book and stuffing it down the toilet bowl, and then running the toilet steadily he could cause much water to run out, and down the steps onto the lower floor. What puzzled me was that, while it was all right to break window panes, the destruction of the school house with water was not allowed. Apparently, even in the case of a died-in-the-wool Freudian, there are limits beyond which a child's insubordination and criminality must not go.

Very interesting to me now is the statement of Dr. Kelley to the effect that with today's practice of letting children grow up without discipline or any instruction in decent living, they are now tending to remain childish, even into later life. Certainly I would not want any daughter of mine to marry a man who had been brought up with utter disregard for the comforts or rights of those about him, or who had been trained to remain infantile in his behavior. As Dr. Kelley says, some of these youngsters who have now grown up without any control from their family have become psychopathic and destructive; they have become delinquent and sometimes even criminal in their habits.

Now as Dr. Kelley says, we must begin to face this type of disaster, and must start looking for a middle ground between the old one and the new, modern one. He admits he does not know exactly what the formula should be, but he now favors moving back close, to the old-fashioned methods that taught self-control and decency. As he said, in doing this, it may be that we will produce some neurotics, but he trusts that we will produce fewer psychopaths and fewer criminals.

A STUPID THEORY

So far as I can see, the present-day theory that a child must not be trained in courtesy and thoughtfulness and decency always has been only a theory, and like many other of Freud's theories, quite without any foundation in research or fact. To my way of thinking, it is a stupid theory, and in practice it has failed. I have no more patience with this theory than I have with the old theory that the cruel thrashing of a boy did good. I think most old physicians feel as I do. Good manners, good habits, self-control, self-discipline and thoughtfulness for the comforts and rights and feelings of others are so tremendously important in a person's life, and so likely, later to bring a good adjustment in the home, in the marriage relationship, and in business relationships, that the parent who does not early teach these great virtues to his child is not only foolish but recreant and very unkind; he is not living up to his responsibilities to the child; he is doing his child great harm. He is like a general who would send into battle a corps of troops whom he had not bothered to train because he so feared his sergeants would hurt their feelings with occasional mild criticisms!

My feeling is that good discipline should be strongly built into a child's make-up before he is four. As I have said in this column, in my own case I know I must have been taught discipline before I was four because I cannot remember ever having defied my parents' authority, and my memories go back to the age of four.

And yet I much doubt if either I or any of my four brothers and sisters were injured in any way by being taught discipline. This discipline was strict, but it was kindly; it was rarely felt as a burden; and hence we children were guided mainly by our parents' love.

BRITAIN'S CONSCIENCE

Guardian Newspaper Now 100 Years Old

MANCHESTER, England (Reuters)—The Manchester Guardian, one of the world's most influential newspapers and Britain's leading Liberal daily, celebrated its centenary as a daily newspaper Saturday.

Started as a weekly in 1821, The Guardian throughout its history has been noted for steadfast integrity and fearless championing of causes, however unpopular, which it believed to be right.

These factors, plus top coverage of the world's news hot spots by the paper's own network of correspondents, has given the Guardian an influence far out of proportion to its pithy 150,000 daily circulation.

Always considered the "conscience" of the British press, the newspaper today is as vigilant against "tainted" news as it was under its great editor, C. P. Scott, who ran it from 1871 until 1929.

The creed of a newspaper was set down in a classic article by Scott in 1921. He wrote then:

"Its primary office is the gathering of news. At the peril of its soul it must see that the supply is not tainted. Neither in what it gives nor in what it does not give, nor in the mode of presentation."

Both men were immigrants from the same village in Finland.

Police Guard For 'Red Dean' In Second Talk

Band Drowns Out Sermon's Ending

LONDON (UP)—Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the "Red Dean" of Canterbury, delivered his second sermon on Christianity and Communism Sunday with church officials guarding the control board of the public address system and detectives standing by.

Police refused to comment on the plain clothesmen's presence in Canterbury Cathedral during the services. It was believed they were there, however, to prevent any recurrence of the "sabotage" to the public address system which marked the Dean's opening sermon on the subject last week.

There were no technical interruptions. But a band marched by during the last five minutes, drowning out the Dean's concluding words.

"It is only right," he said, "to point out that Christianity is the most materialistic of all great religions."

"Christ was materialist in his supreme reverence for the material world," the Dean said. "Was it not Christ who said: 'When you make a feast call not in your rich neighbors but those who have no food at all?'"

Spectators Horn In On Cream Puff Duel

UPPERMILL, Eng. (Reuters)—Two youths attired in the traditional top hats and cravats fought a duel in the market square of this tiny village Saturday night—with cream puffs at 10 paces.

Stanley Rowe, 18, had called French painter Pablo Picasso a "fake" a few days ago while arguing with Jim Andrew, a 19-year-old art student. Words led to words and it was decided to settle the matter on the field of honor.

Jim chose the weapons—two cream puffs each—and he and Stanley met in the market square with their seconds. They stood back to back, walked five paces, turned and threw. Both missed.

Then their supporters, all carrying large bags of cream puffs, joined in and soon the spectators were covered with whipped cream.

When the bags were empty, Jim and Stanley were carried away shoulder high by their friends.

Atkinson Lauds Stratford 'Oedipus'

NEW YORK (CP)—Brooks Atkinson, New York Times drama critic, says the play "Oedipus Rex" at the Stratford Shakespearean Festival "made a profound impression on everyone who saw it."

Reviewing the play which opened Tuesday night, Atkinson says in The Times Sunday edition that everything in it "has been orchestrated in an epic style."

"The masks, designed like graven images by Miss Tanya Moiseiwitsch and Jacqueline Cundall, are extraordinarily vivid, and Miss Moiseiwitsch's costumes are solemn and imposing," the review says.

"But it is the staging that places this 'Oedipus' on a heroic level—the groupings, the tempo, the ominous pauses, the passionate intonations, the measured movement, the contrasts in posture and style of walking."

"Although the acting is impersonal it is bursting with moral vitality... it ought to awaken the imagination of modern writers concerned over the moral degradation of the world today."

Arts Festival Opens Sunday At Kingsmere

Concerts, Plays, Courses Featured

OTTAWA (BUP)—The six weeks Kingsmere Festival of the Arts will open next Sunday in the grounds of the 600-acre Moorside Estate bequeathed by the late Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King to the people of Canada.

Four concerts and six plays will be presented each Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the open air. Courses in drawing and painting will be conducted by prominent Canadian artists headed by Dr. A. Y. Jackson in a nearby mansion now owned by the federal district commission.

The first concert will be held the opening day, by the gentlemen and boy chorists of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, under George N. Maybee, organist and master of the chorists. On the succeeding Sundays, the Palestrina Choir of Ottawa, the Leduc Symphony of Montreal and the Bress-Joachim-Newmark trio of Montreal will be heard.

Two Canadian plays will be presented. They are "Zone" by Marcel Dube, in French, on July 29 and 30, and "The Bridge" in English by Joseph Schull, Aug. 5 and 6.

In the arts school Henri Masson, a landscape painter, will be "visiting professor" by Jackson. Robert Hyndman will teach portrait and figure painting, Gerald Trotter drawing and anatomy, and William Balle of the Edinburgh College of Art will be resident instructor. Children's classes will be taught by Miss Marjorie Herwig and Mrs. Isobel Ryan.

Highest Unclimbed Peak In Continent Conquered

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Six men have succeeded in scaling the highest unclimbed peak in North America—15,000-foot University Peak.

Keith Hart, expedition leader, sent word from the base camp at Chitina that the "John McCall memorial expedition has made the first ascent of University Peak."

In addition to scaling this peak which has turned back all previous attempts to conquer it, the expedition also made the first ascent of McCall Peak.

This peak was recently named after the man who led rescue teams up Mount McKinley last year to bring down George Argus who was badly injured and marooned at the 11,000-foot level of Mount McKinley.

Hart also wired that one rope team had been struck by an avalanche but that no one was injured. The assault on 15,000 foot University Peak began about June 9 after many days of delay due to thick turbulent weather.

The victorious climbers are: Hart, recent graduate of the University of Alaska; Tim Kelley, University of Washington student in physics; Gibson Reynolds, consulting engineer from New York;

Sheldon Brooks, student from Tacoma, Wash.; Leon Blumer, Australian now living in Trail, B. C.; and Norman Sanders former University of Alaska student.

The men who were almost swept away by an avalanche were Blumer, Brooks and Sanders.

WHAT SHOULD I DO ABOUT

a farm improvement loan?

Farm Improvement Loans can be applied to almost anything that will improve the efficiency of your farm. If you've ever wondered whether F.I.L. money is available for some improvement you wish to make, talk it over with the nearest manager of a Toronto-Dominion branch. He cannot always lend money but you can be assured that he wants to, and appreciates your interest. In every case he will be glad to explain Farm Improvement Loans to you in detail so that you will know exactly where you stand.

At the Toronto-Dominion Bank we are particularly interested in working with Canada's farmers... and we will welcome an opportunity of discussing your banking problems with you.

VANCOUVER ROWERS ALL THROUGH AS CREW

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, Eng. (CP) — The champion British Empire Games University of British Columbia eight, who beat Russia's best Friday, rowed their last race together Saturday.

After losing by only a few feet to the University of Pennsylvania in the finals of the royal Henley regatta's Grand Challenge Cup, several crew members announced they were through with rowing.

Industrialist Garfield Weston, who helped finance the Canadian trip, however, told the rowers "You were greater in defeat than you were in beating the Russians."

FINSTERWALD B.C. GOLF CHAMP

Bud Falters As Dow Wins

By BILL WALKER

Shaughnessy Golf Club Vancouver—This was what they call "pressure golf" as 25-year-old Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, Saturday won the $15,000 B.C. Open golf tournament with a 72-hole total of 270, 18 under par.

He edged Bud Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif., by a single stroke, the dramatic ending coming on the 18th green when Holscher missed a 30-inch putt that, if it had dropped, would have sent him into a sudden-death playoff with the new champion.

The nerves belonged not only to Finsterwald, a fellow whom few had heard of before the event, let alone being able to pronounce his name afterwards, but also to Holscher in a pulsating finish that reached its climax during the final six holes.

It was at this stage, with everyone else who had been in contention playing ahead of them and out of the running, providing nothing worse than par golf could be maintained by one or the other, that the brilliance of these two youngsters came to the fore.

Two strokes ahead of Holscher, who had cut two strokes off the lead during the first 12 holes, Finsterwald gambled with an attempted shot over the trees on the dog-leg 13th. He "ailed" and was forced to chip out of the trees for a bogey six while Holscher took a par four to draw even.

They each got down in regulation fours at the 14th, Finsterwald regaining his composure and a one stroke lead with a birdie three on an eight-foot putt on the 15th.

Holscher returned the compliment on the 374-yard 15th with a 30-foot putt for a birdie three to put him six under par for the round and all even with two holes to play—but not before Finsterwald had canned a 10-foot putt for a par with the title seemingly slipping from his grasp.

They both parred the 222-yard 17th and, with a gallery estimated at 5,500 awaiting their arrival on the 18th, teed off for the final hole.

Strain Finally Told on Final Hole

Holscher showed the strain this time when he hooked his tee shot into the crowd, but the ball hit a spectator and left him a clean shot at the green. Finsterwald was up the middle on his tee shot. Holscher's second shot barely missed catching a trap to the right of the 18th while Finsterwald was pin high and about 18 feet from the cup.

Holscher chipped past the pin by about 30 inches and seemingly had his par four made when Finsterwald went boldly for the very lip of the cup, and it was amazing that it didn't drop. Then Holscher missed to finish in second place by one stroke at 271 and with a final round of 67 to go with his previous scores of 70-67-67.

Finsterwald had a two-under par 70 for the round as he missed tying the previous competitive course record of 269 by a single stroke. His previous totals were 67-68-65.

It was his second major victory since being discharged from the U.S. Air Force nine months ago. Previously he had won the Fort Wayne Open.

Snead's Putter Barks Again

Tied for third were Sam Snead, Mike Souchak and Bob Rosburg. Snead having a particularly frustrating round of 68 when he missed at least five putts of less than seven feet.

And for a time it appeared that Snead might push his way into a possible playoff, even after he had missed successive birdies on eight, nine and ten by bare inches. He chipped in for an eagle three on the 11th to go five under and barely missed another eagle on the 270-yard 12th when his chip rolled past the pin by two feet. From there he two-putted for a par, missed another short putt on the 14th and bogeyed the 17th for his final 68.

Souchak was five under on his final round with a 67, while Rosburg, the early leader, finished with a par 72, a missed putt of 15 inches on the second hole best explaining his final day's troubles.

Hottest round of the day was turned in by Vancouver's Stan Leonard who birdied four straight holes, eight, nine, 10 and 11, to go seven under at that point. However, Leonard went too far off the pace to be a threat, his final 65, and 72-hole total of 282 being 12 strokes off the pace.

Best Canadian score was registered by Bob Wyllie of Calgary with 281. Bob Kidd of Vancouver was low amateur with 285.

All-Star Major League Baseball Clubs Named

CHICAGO (AP)—The starting American and National League lineups for the 22nd all-star game in Milwaukee, July 12, were announced Sunday night.

Here are the starting lineups: National League—1 b: Ted Kluszewski, Cincinnati; 2 b: Al Schoendienst, St. Louis; 3 b: Ed Matthews, Milwaukee; ss: Ernie Banks, Chicago; lf: Del Ennis, Philadelphia; cf: Duke Snider, Brooklyn; rf: Don Mueller, New York; c: Roy Campanella, Brooklyn.

American League—1 b: Mickey Vernon, Washington; 2 b: Nellie Fox, Chicago; 3 b: Jim Fingers, Kansas City; ss: Harvey Kuenn, Detroit; lf: Ted Williams, Boston; cf: Mickey Mantle, New York; rf: Al Kaline, Detroit; c: Larry Berra, New York.

Those players received the most votes in the poll, conducted by 775 newspapers, radio and TV outlets, which opened June 10 and closed at midnight Friday. It brought out a record 5,622,064 votes. The previous record was 4,637,743 set in 1969.

Manager Leo Durocher, of New York Giants, will lead the National League. Al Lopez, of Cleveland Indians, will direct the American League. It will be Durocher's fourth appearance as the National League's manager, and Lopez' first as the American League leader. Each has played in two all-star games.

Fay Crocker Takes Open

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, staved off sharp challenges by Mary Lena Faulk and Louise Suggs to win the $7,500 Women's National Open Golf championship with a fourth round 74 with a 299 total Saturday. Miss Faulk and Miss Suggs finished with 303.

Miss Crocker pocketed first prize of $2,000. Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., finished fourth with rounds of 78 and 71 for a 307. Her last 18-hole score was the only sub-par round of the tournament.

Cowichan Earns Tie

VANCOUVER (CP) — Cowichan and Burrard played to a draw in an exhibition cricket match at Trafalgar Park here Sunday.

Cowichan ran up 140 runs for six wickets declared, but were unable to dismiss Burrard before time ran out. Burrard had 109 runs for eight wickets.

Batting in a steady rain, George Ellis scored 56 runs to top the Cowichan batsmen, while Bob Moffitt and Jeff Dyson had 26 and 21, respectively. Eric Bale with 20 runs was high for Burrard.

Vancouver's 27-year-old Frank Opsal, with only five years of competitive trap-shooting behind him, scored a near sweep of honors in the B.C. Trap Championships, which concluded Sunday at Victoria Gun Club.

Owner of the highest aggregate average in the province last year, Opsal, described as "a natural shooter" by old-timers, won the B.C. all-round championship, the "C" class doubles championship, the provincial handicap championship and the "A" class singles championship, the latter title after a tough shoot-off with Victoria's Jack Roach.

Rainy weather, which accompanied Sunday's wind-up activities of the three-day shoot, failed to slow down Opsal.

He took the coveted all-round title with a four-event total score of 366/400 for two rounds of singles, handicap singles and doubles.

Opsal captured the C class doubles by powdering 83 of 100 birds and racked up 93/100 to take the handicap title.

In the A class singles, Opsal and Roach both finished with 190/200, forcing a 25-target shoot-off. Opsal won the shoot-off and picked up the title by dusting 23 of his 25 birds.

Opsal won the Ron Page trophy for the handicap title and the PB Anderson trophy for his all-round domination.

Harold Sigale of the Vernon Gun Club knocked off 97 of 100 targets in Saturday's first half of the 16-year singles championship and added 94/100 under rainy conditions Sunday to take the provincial singles title with a 191/200 total. He was presented with the Al Hagar trophy. His score gave him the B class singles title and Opsal won the A class after his shoot-off with Roach. Johnny Green of Courtenay fired 185/200 to take the G class trophy and J. Genier of Vernon took the D class singles with 177/200.

Russ Young of Vancouver, 1954 doubles champion, retained his title for another year when he totalled 89/100 to keep his grip on the Rod McIndoe Trophy.

Another Vancouverite retained a title, Beryl Trewhitt defending her ladies' champion-

GYROS EDGE ROTARY

Rain Big Winner In Week-End Sport

Another wet week-end curtailed outdoor sports action in Victoria and district, with all baseball games rained out on Sunday.

Saturday, UCT moved to within half a game of first-place McCall-Davey in the Babe Ruth league by thumping Eagles, 11-1. Dave Emery led the winners both on the mound and at the plate. He scattered four hits and struck out 12 batters for the pitching victory, and smashed out a home run and double from the plate.

In a Little League game at Little League Park Saturday, Gyros had to go eight innings

City Booters Need Victory In Final Game

Victoria City will have its last chance to avoid a relegation-promotion series with a second-division club when it meets Firefighters in a Coast Soccer League game in Vancouver Wednesday.

The game was originally scheduled for Monday in the Mainland city but was postponed when air transportation for the Victoria club was not available.

The game will decide who sinks into last place in the season's standings for the six-team loop. City now has 14 points for both first and second-half schedules, with St. Andrews having 15 points and Firefighters, 16 points.

In Saturday Coast Soccer League action Firefighters, sparked by the two goal performance of Gordie Ion, dumped St. Andrews, 4-1, before 1,003 fans at Callister Park.

Jack Younger and Jimmy Spencer scored Firefighters' other two goals, while Dave McCruer scored for St. Andrews. Score at half-time was 3-1 for Firefighters.

Second-half standings:

City Shots Selected On B.C. Team

Seven Victorians and one Nanaimo shooter were named to the provincial rifle team, following completion of the 71st annual B.C. Rifle Association matches at Blair Range over the weekend.

Local shooters who will compete on the provincial representative team at Ottawa's Connaught Range in August are Major A. M. Taylor Spittal, Fran Morrison, Lieut. E. Nicholson, Ron McCreedy, Eileen Leary, Gerry Valleau and John Bishop. Dave Thorburn of Nanaimo also was named to the team.

The three-day shoot, one of the biggest ever held in B.C., was attended by Portland veteran Jim Morris, first vice-president of the Pacific International Trap-Shooting Association, who said, "The Victoria Gun Club has done a wonderful job of arranging and handling this shoot. While the scores have not been exceptional, the shoot itself was most successful."

New officers were named at a meeting of the B.C. Trap Association, held Sunday. J. M. Lamusse of Vancouver was elected president and L. T. Traer, Cowichan Lake, was named vice-president. G. Eric Price, Vancouver, is secretary.

Friendly Atmosphere

LONDON (Reuters) — Moscow radio said today Britain's Henley Regatta, in which Russian oarsmen won three trophies last week, "took place in a friendly atmosphere and contributed to the strengthening of ties between the Soviet and British sportsmen."

The commentator described the Thames at Henley as "an amazingly beautiful and suitable for rowing contests."

Victoria Shamrocks head into a week of destiny tonight—a week that could set the pattern for the second half of the Intercity Lacrosse League.

Down to a one-point lead over Nanaimo Timbermen, as a result of Timbermen's blood-letting 22-10 victory over Vancouver Pilseners Saturday night, Shamrocks take on Pilseners in Victoria tonight while Nanaimo meets Mount Pleasant Indians on the mainland.

Shamrocks, having watched their once-handsome lead trickle away to almost nothing, by virtue of three straight losses, need a victory tonight.

Should the Rocks lose to Pilseners tonight and Nanaimo beat Indians, Timbermen would jump into first place by one point over the Irish and Victoria would be only one point ahead of third-place Vancouver.

That would make for a highly spicy situation here Wednesday night when Shamrocks host Nanaimo. The Rocks finish their busy week at New Westminster Thursday night where they meet the last-place Totoks.

In an effort to take maximum points this week the Rocks have hurried the return of veteran Arnie Ferguson, who came out of retirement over the weekend and practised with Shamrocks Sunday morning.

UTILITY POST
Ferguson will be at the utility position against Pilseners tonight.

Geordy Johnston will be in goal, with reliever Jim Hetherington standing by and Nip O'Hearn, Jack Thompson, Bill Bamford and Bob Monaghan will share defensive duties.

Al Gill, Larry Booth and Pee-wee Bradshaw will be on the forward line; Whitey Severn, Jack Northup and Lew Landess will form another attacking unit and Bob Dobbie, Harry Irwin and Al Davies make up the third forward string.

Game time tonight is 8.30.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Dandy Thought, owned by Meadowbrook stables of Winnipeg, sprinted to a close victory in the 26th running of the $3,400-added Winnipeg Futurity at Polo Park Saturday.

Yanks, Brooks Set for Series

(By The Associated Press)

If the old Fourth of July bromide still holds true, it will be Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees in the World Series at Yankee Stadium, Wednesday, Sept. 28.

Brooklyn hardly looked like a pennant winner during the week-end, losing three of four to the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates. In fact, it appeared the Brooks were going to drop their first double-header of the season until Gil Hodges hit a three-run homer to pull out the second game Sunday.

It's a sad commentary on the National League "race" that Pirates have done the best job of beating the runaway Brooks. They have won five from Dodgers, tops in the league.

Pittsburgh made it three straight over Brooklyn on Monday night's fine relief pitching in the 7.5 first game but Hodges' homer and the combination of pitchers Billy Loes and Clem Labine salvaged the second for Dodgers, 3-1.

Chicago Cubs remained 11½ games behind the leaders by splitting a double with St. Louis Cardinals. Cards grabbed the opener 8-2 on Floyd Woolridge's five-hitter but Jim King, Hank Sauer, Ernie Banks and Dee Fondy hit homers for a 10-5 victory in the second.

Milwaukee Braves outslugged Cincinnati Redlegs 7-3 with homerun punch by Bobby Thomson, Eddie Mathews and Del Crandall. New York Giants nipped Philadelphia Phillies 4-3, with reliever Jack Meyer uncorked a wild pitch in the seventh.

YANKS UP 6½: Although the Yankees bowed to Washington Senators 5-0 on the fine five-hit pitching of veteran Johnny Schemitz, they clung to their 6½-game lead over runner-up Chicago White Sox, who bowed to Cleveland Indians 14-9. New York Giants nipped Philadelphia Phillies 4-3, with reliever Jack Meyer uncorked a wild pitch in the seventh.

Dodgers Carl Furillo made his first error of the season Saturday and it led to a 7-6 victory for Pirates. Furillo muffed Dick Groat's fly ball in the 10th inning for two bases and Johnny O'Brien singled Groat home with the winning run.

Homers by Randy Jackson and Walker Cooper in a three-run eighth inning gave Cubs a 4-3 win over Cardinals. The Cards got two in the ninth on a pinch homer by Pete Whisenant.

Willie Mays, definitely out of his slump, hit his 21st homer along with circuit clouts by Sid Gordon and Ray Katt for a 6-1 Giants' victory over Phils.

Ted Kluszewski, Cincinnati first baseman, hit his 25th homer as Redlegs defeated Milwaukee 10-5.

In the American League, George Susce tossed a four-hitter for Red Sox, who handed Orioles their 11th straight defeat, 5-1.

Tommy Byrne tossed a three-hitter as Yankees defeated Washington Senators 12-4. Jack Harshman also pitched a three-hitter and, like Byrne, homered as White Sox defeated Cleveland 2-1. An 11th-inning homer by Joe DeMaestri gave Kansas City an 11-10 win over Detroit.

Twelve Vancouver Island women drivers were entered.

Results: Trophy dash—1. Mike Newton; 2. Dave Cooper; 3. Jerry Sylvester. Second heat—1. Phil Lambrick; 2. Harry Roberts; 3. Hank Nielsen. Third heat—1. Dick Villoughby; 2. Don Roberts; 3. Phil Gode. Fourth heat—1. Don Boyles; 2. Jack Smith; 3. Bert Gilmore. Main event—1. Lambrick; 2. Dick Villoughby; 3. Hank Nielsen. First heat women—1. Ruth Erickson; 2. Ruby Newton; 3. Val Bates. Second heat women—1. Val Bates; 2. Dory Lee Standring; 3. Norma Macdonald. Final women—1. Ruby Newton; 2. Val Bates; 3. Dory Lee Standring.

It will be the third game of the intercity season for the junior Rocks, who have won one and lost one.

NEW RECORD ON NEW COURSE

St. Andrews Not So Tough

(From CP and UP Dispatches)

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland—Frank Jowle of England today set a new record for the St. Andrews "new course" with an eight-under par 63 in the first qualifying round of the British Open golf championship.

He was out in 30 and back in 33.

Earlier Joe Carr of Ireland and Harry Weetman of Britain had set new marks with four under par 67s.

The former record of 69 was held by England's Peter Allis.

FURGOL SHOOT 71

Ed Furgol, 1954 U.S. open champion, opened his bid for the crown by shooting a par 71 as 270 players from 17 countries began play under a cloudless sky.

Furgol, a 31-year-old professional from Clayton, Mo., is the second choice at 4 to 1 in the 83rd British open.

Each entrant will play 18 holes on the new course and 18 on the 400-year-old "old" course today and Tuesday to make up the two rounds of qualifying play. The 100 low scorers will qualify for the 72-hole tournament proper, which will start on the old course Wednesday.

The field will be cut in half again for Friday's final 36 holes.

Harold (CQ) Kirkpatrick, an amateur from Greenville, N.C., shot a two-over-par 73 in the first qualifying round.

Jim Michale, former Walker Cup player from Wynnewood, Pa., opened with a two-under-par 70 on the old course.

He had a two-under-par 34 going out and an even-par 36 on the back nine.

Lawrie Aytton, veteran Scottish pro now living in Ipswich, England, equalled the record for the Old Course with 33-34-67.

NELSON TIED

Byron Nelson, U.S. open champion in 1930, shot 36-33-69 over the New Course to tie Walter Lees, a young Yorkshire professional, for second place in the early scoring.

England's Henry Cotton, three-time winner of the British open title, sank a 15-foot putt for a par 72 on the Old Course.

Ed Lowery, a San Francisco amateur, shot a three over par 75 on the Old Course.

Peter Thomson, the 25-year-old Australian who is defending the title he won last year at England's Royal Birkdale Course, shot a three-under-par 69 on the Old Course. He went out in 34 and back in 35.

PARLO EASY WINNER

STANTON, Del. (AP)—Parlo, the even money favorite, romped home an easy winner Saturday in record time of 2:02.25 in the $110,000 added Delaware handicap, richest race in the world for fillies and mares.

Richards Captures U.S. Decathlon Title

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind.—Bob Richards, the pole vaulting person from Long Beach, Calif., won his third National AAU decathlon championship Saturday, beating back a strong challenge by 20-year-old Bob Lawson of Aberdeen, Wash.

Lawson, a Southern California freshman, scored 6,501 points in the 10-event test of all-around athletic ability—exactly Richards' winning score last year.

But the 20-year-old Richards rose to the challenge with 6,873 points, bettering his 1954 performances in six events. He also won in 1951.

Lawson had beaten the veteran athlete in the South Pacific Coast decathlon last month and Richards trailed until the eighth event, his pole vaulting specialty.

Richards failed to equal his 15-foot vault of the 1954 decathlon, but cleared 14 feet 10½ inches for 1,095 points that put him ahead.

He clinched the title with the javelin throw of 188 feet 7½ inches, and he did not need his final 197 points scored with a 5:10.4 trot through the 1,500 meters. The Church of the Brethren preacher, was best man only in the pole vault, but he scored well up in every event.

ATOM RAILWAY NEXT

sarily incomplete in the absence of fuel costs.

If U-235 costs less than the recently estimated $7 per gram, the locomotive could compete with equivalent Diesel power under optimum conditions of load and service.

Problems of health and public welfare are considered technically soluble, although the exact arrangements have not been detailed. (Editor's note: What protection would be available in event of a wreck has been touched on in the earlier chapter on safety.)

The University of Utah study takes a thorough look at the economics of the atomic locomotive.

In 20-30 Years?

By-passing development costs, which AEC would undoubtedly have to finance, it finds that a complete locomotive should cost about double the Diesel figure.

These extra investment costs would have to be canceled by better fuel economy and higher performance.

High-speed, high-power service is the field expected to make the best use of atomic-powered locomotives.

A guess on the coming of atomic railroading would be 20 to 30 years. This is longer than for most other applications, since the advantages are smaller and the development costs pretty high.

And now, what of the auto of tomorrow? Imaginative people have repeatedly dreamed of the car into whose tank one merely puts an "atomic pill" and then forgets about fuel for good.

Gasoline has been doing a fine job in the family car for 50 years, and would certainly not yield to the atom without a struggle. It would have about everything on its side, too.

First, shielding. Not a scientist is to be found today who will admit that shielding can ever be light in weight. Since it is weight itself that provides the resistance to radiation.

Atom-Autos

Thus, our atom-autos would be impossibly heavy, carrying 50 tons or so of lead or concrete or pig iron.

But suppose they do find a weightless shield, through a loophole in physics. We are then face to face with economics.

For the chain reaction requires a minimum mass of fissionable material. The figure hasn't been divided, but it is a matter of pounds of U-235, much more like tons if it is ordinary uranium.

Anyway, the minimum mass would furnish power for a car for decades. Thus, when you sold your car for junk it would still have virtually a new engine and its tank would still be "full". Tank and engine would run through dozens of cars.

Another economic difficulty: U-235 costs about $4,000 a pound. You would have a burdensome investment to get your car on the road.

Perhaps you wouldn't own the car at all, but simply rent it from the government.

The atomic auto would be a nuisance in the morning. A pile doesn't simply turn on; it has to be brought up to criticality and the chain reaction started with great care.

In the presence of experts this takes at least an hour, and is said to be the only moment when a fission reaction is in real danger of getting out of hand.

Help Needed to Send Students to UBC Seminar

Sponsors for four or five more students are required by United Nations' Association of Victoria before a group of 23 from local high schools attend a seminar on the United Nations at UBC, Aug. 29 to Sept. 9.

It is the third year of the conference which is attended by high school scholars from all over B.C.

This year's theme is "What Has United Nations to Offer Asia?"

The youngsters will tour selected Vancouver industrial plants, visit the Van de Graeff atom smasher in the UBC physics department, dine in Chinatown, take part in swimming and picnic parties, dance, ride the Grouse Mountain chairlift, debate and hold a model security council.

Students selected are: Victoria High, Joseph Haegert, Sharon Woods and Edward Kowalyk; Oak Bay High, Hamish Redford, Valerie Rosenthal and Carol Reid; Mount View High, Audrey Woodward, Melvin Chapman, Maxine Grah and Paul Phillips; Royal Oak High, Lorne Bolton, Rose Heatherington, Thelma Fraser and Anne Sutton; Esquimalt High, Janice Butler and Ross Cameron; Mount Douglas High, Claude Maurice and Sharon Plows; Belmont High, Sheila Arden and Donald Graham; St. Margaret's, Anne Wurtele and Colleen Heaney; privately, Christa Redetzke.

DRY-LAND SWIMMER ARRESTED AS DRUNK

FLIN FLON, Man. (CP)—The local radio station Saturday received a telegram from a man in The Pas announcing that he would attempt to swim 20 miles across Clearwater Lake.

The interested news editor got in touch with police in The Pas to check the information. The swimmer was soon in jail. Police had interviewed the man as he walked up and down the main street in The Pas clad in a bathing suit and swinging his arms breast-stroke fashion. He was booked on a drunk charge.

Langford Boy Located After 2 Days in Bush

A Langford Boy Scout, one of a party of 13 undertaking to hike from Port Renfrew to Bamfield, was heading for home today after being separated from his party for two days.

Bob Strachan, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick G. Strachan, Florence Lake Road, was missed from his party Friday evening, just four miles out from Port Renfrew.

He was picked up today by Charlie Jones, Port Renfrew Indian, who had noticed a light in an old telegraph line man's cabin at Thrasher Cove, and decided it must have been made by the missing boy. Jones made the 30-minute trip from Port Renfrew by boat.

The young scout left Port Renfrew with Mrs. Violet Allan, and will be taken to Shawnigan Lake by B.C. Forest Products Ltd. speeder and private car. He parents will meet him at Shawnigan Lake this evening.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Well, it certainly is nice to be back after 10, these many (two) weeks. And it is wonderful to be greeted by so many letters and cards.

I wish I had space to print them all, but can only squeeze in a representative assortment, such as:

Dear Monte:

I am enjoying your vacation very, very much. Every day, I pick up the paper, and eagerly turn to the first page of the second section, and search for the words I am so anxious to see, namely "Monte Roberts on Vacation."

Keep up the good work. Continue to enjoy your vacation, and I will continue to enjoy The Times.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

Dear Between Times:

Of all the columns you didn't write during your vacation, I enjoyed most of all the column you didn't write on June 31.

That, Sir, if I may say so, Sir, was a masterpiece of not writing. Not only did you not write a column, you also did not write a column in a paper which was not published on a day which did not exist.

ACTUARIUS.

Dear Pal:

As one vacationer to another, I'd just like you to know I, too, have been taking it easy. In fact, since you disappeared from the scene two weeks ago, I haven't done a blessed thing. Just breathed in and out, relaxed like.

But I've been told things have been going swimmingly. When you get back to work, you might check into this and let me know.

Your Pal,

OLD MAN JUAN DE FUCA.

Editor,

Our Very Own Island Digest,

Dear Sir:

Why have there been no reports from Goon Centre for two weeks? Mr. Abner Goon, the leading citizen of Goon Centre, has been leading with his chin again, and many other affairs of note and import have occurred, all of which should have been duly recorded as written by your Goon Centre correspondent, Mrs. Abner Goon.

Please do something about this.

The above is writ by hand by, yours truly,

MRS. ABNER GOON.

Roberts:

We sure been missing you, boy. Ah! I admit maybe 'tain't all Old Betsy's fault (she's due for a re-bore) but we sure been missin' you, just the same.

Get behind that desk, boy, were we kin draw a head on you, boy.

DAVY CROCKET.

Well, Gee Whizz, thanks for all the letters and cards. I guess.

Farmers Worry As Crop Damage On Increase

Berries, Grapes, Hay, Corn Suffer

Continual rainy and cloudy weather, which has damaged strawberry crop during the past two weeks, threatens to cause havoc among other crops on Vancouver Island, it was learned today.

A large percentage of this year's hay has been ruined and in addition the weather has started to affect grapes, tomatoes, corn, cherries, and other ground crops, a survey of farmers indicated.

Fears were expressed that a prolonged wet spell may result also in the spread of potato blight, a fungus disease, which can cause widespread damage.

ONE OF WORST

Agricultural officials said the losses may be one of the worst in years if rainy and cloudy weather persists for another two weeks.

"Some farming areas, such as Saanich and the Fraser Valley,

SUNDAY COLD JULY RECORD

Pity the poor mercury, now that July is here.

Sunday (a misnomer) had the lowest maximum temperature ever recorded for Victoria for July, a chattering 52.7 degrees.

The previous low temperature for July was 54 degrees on July 2, 1932, and the previous low for July 3 during the 56 years of the weather bureau's operation was 58.9 in 1951.

Other officers of the unit, including commanding officer Lieut.-Col. W. H. V. Matthews, are enthused at the idea that a member of the battalion will be in the swimming, and have offered full backing.

Martin, who tips the scale at 247 and stands six feet, has every intention of trying the swim from the Canadian shore.

"I'd like to be the first guy to make it from this side," the swimmer said.

4 HOURS DAILY

Since the Strait swim bug bit Martin in April (after seeing Bert Thomas' name posted as a challenger), Martin has been training in Cadboro Bay and off Horseshoe Bay three and four hours daily.

He swims both the crawl and breast stroke and figures he has a good chance because he has been swimming in waters surrounding Victoria most of his life.

While in the navy during the second World War, Martin swam long distances off the Newfoundland coast.

"Once I get into Port Angeles water I'm not getting out for anything. I'm not waiting for tides or anything. They'll have to drag me out," the corporal said.

Fifty Houses To Be Built At Esquimalt

Construction of 50 housing units for civilian and navy personnel is planned at Esquimalt.

A spokesman at HMC Dockyard said he was not able to say where or when the program would commence, but said it would be undertaken by Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. for the department of national defence.

Victoria office of Central Mortgage and Housing said it had not been informed of the plan, for which tenders are said to have been called.

In April, local CMHC manager J. P. Reece indicated the crown corporation wishes to dispose of its holdings here.

Cedarwood Seaman Flown to Hospital

An RCAF amphibian Sunday flew, an injured seaman from HMCS Cedarwood to hospital in Vancouver for examination of a suspected concussion.

Injuries proved to be slight, and the seaman, AB A. Schneider of Winnipeg, will rejoin his ship shortly.

CPL. "BIG" MARTIN

QOR Swimmer Gets Support Of Whole Unit

BY AB KENT

Wholehearted support of the Second Battalion Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, will be behind Cpl. Biggerstaff ("Big") Martin, 35, when he attempts to swim Juan de Fuca Strait the first week of August.

The local soldier, recently back from Korea with his battalion now stationed at Gordon Head Camp, will have his senior officer, Capt. Fred Coe as handler and feeder in a rowboat.

He announced over the week-end his entry in the swim.

Martin's twin brother Sarsfield, who is familiar with the water through fishing, will act as the quartermaster accountant's navigator.

Esquimalt Ships In Rescue Role

Bridge, Tank Tumbles Nearly Take Two Lives

Youngster Clings To Span's Piling

Children were the victims of mishaps over the holiday week-end in Victoria and district.

Quick action was credited with saving a 22-month-old boy and a seven-year-old lad from drowning in separate accidents.

Two other boys—one four and one eight—were injured slightly in traffic accidents.

A mother who noticed her 22-month-old son missing Saturday night at about 8 p.m. ran immediately to an uncovered septic tank at their new home.

PULLED HIM OUT

Mrs. Catherine Garrett, 4082 Borden, pulled her son, Lawrence, from the tank and applied artificial respiration until a Saanich fire inhalator crew arrived.

The lad was detained at Royal Jubilee Hospital overnight for observation and allowed to go home Sunday.

He was unconscious when pulled from the tank.

Frankie Gorge, seven, was scared, cold and wet when pulled from waters near Craigflower Bridge Friday night at about 9:20 by Bob Copeman, 23, 3024 Jutland, and Dave Martin, 22, 1440 Craigflower.

BRIDGE FALL

The lad had fallen from the bridge and was holding on to piling underneath when rescued.

Injured in traffic accidents were David Anderson, 4, 2615 Rose, and Craig Matthews, 8, 1306 Camosun.

Police said the Anderson child suffered knee bruises when he ran into the side of an auto driven east on Hillside near Fountain Circle Sunday at about 4:30 p.m. Driver of the car was Joseph Orr Stinson, 4520 West Saanich Road.

Craig Matthews struck his head on the dashboard of his father's car when Mr. Matthews applied brakes after a slight collision Saturday at about 5:55 p.m. on Blanshard south of Johnson.

Both boys were treated at hospital.

Sailors Pay Fines For Theft of Boat

Three naval ratings from HMCS Naden each were fined $25 or five days in jail when they pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of theft of a boat.

Maurice Legault, Steven Fajez and Raymond Ouellette, took a 27-foot whaler valued at $150 from Fishermen's Wharf early Saturday morning and paddled across inner harbor before coming ashore near the British-American Oil Co. Ltd., 51 Songhees.

Boat was owned by H. S. Benson, police said.

Strict Patrol Of Meters Starts Monday

Five members of the Corps of Commissioners, who were sworn in as special constables last Thursday, will assume duties on parking meter patrol next Monday.

Victoria city manager C. C. Wyatt said today the date was tentatively set and final details were expected to be ironed out at a meeting with Police Chief John Blackstock later today.

The Commissioners will deal only with meter infractions and will not be concerned with parking in other restricted zones. They will be authorized to issue tickets but city police will assume responsibility for fine collections and issuance of summonses.

Mr. Wyatt said the Commissioners will be especially on the lookout for parkers who hog a meter for more than an hour and deposit more than five cents without moving their cars.

The group will be under jurisdiction of the police chief but will be administered otherwise by the city engineer's department.

"There will be little change from the present system other than closer supervision," Mr. Wyatt added.

Minesweepers Save Disabled Fishboat

Esquimalt-based Canadian Navy ships rescued a U.S. fishing vessel disabled in high seas and gale force winds off the California Coast July 1, a navy spokesman said here today.

En route home after an operational cruise to San Francisco, the three ships of the Second Canadian Minesweeping Squadron—HMC Ships Comox, James Bay and Fortune—picked up a general wireless alarm reporting the California fishboat Raven, two men aboard, broken down in heavy seas.

The call was received early in the afternoon. Visibility was extremely poor, but the ships spread out in formation to sweep the area where the Raven had been reported.

Winds were gusting from 40 to 60 miles per hour, and high seas were running. The ships made radar contact before dark, and located Raven 10½ miles west of Point Reyes, which is near San Francisco.

They made visual contact shortly after, and managed to get a tow-line aboard under extremely difficult conditions. Comox took the stricken vessel in tow and, escorted by her sister ships, worked into the shelter of Drake's Bay, where Raven was taken over by the U.S. Coast Guard.

The RCN ships are due back at home port at seven o'clock tonight. Squadron commander and captain of Comox is Cmdr. J. V. Steele.

ESQUIMALT NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Cruiser Ontario en route Oslo, Norway to Clyde River, arriving July 7.

Coastal escorts Brockville, Digby and Cordova leave here 8 p.m. today for San Francisco.

Minesweepers Comox, James Bay and Fortune arrive from San Francisco today at 7 p.m.

Fountain Roundabout Elimination Favored

City Council Meeting Planned On Traffic Bottleneck Question

Early action aimed at elimination of a traffic bottleneck at the Douglas Street fountain circle was indicated today. It was announced at City Hall the matter will be discussed at a city public works committee meeting Tuesday.

Mayor Claude Harrison said a special council meeting will be called July 14 and the committee is expected to make recommendations regarding the roundabout at that time.

A majority of council agreed today that relief of congestion at the six-way intersection is urgent in the face of increased Douglas Street traffic due with opening of the new Island Highway cutoff to Goldstream.

The new highway funnels traffic from the base of the Malahat direct to Douglas Street and is expected to decrease use of Gorge Road by south-bound traffic.

Individual members of city council were polled on the subject today.

Mayor Harrison said, "What's the good of it when a policeman has to take over traffic direction at that point at rush hours." He said he favored dividing the intersection so that Government and Gorge were separated from Douglas and Hillside east.

WRONG AT START

Ald. Austin Curtis, "I was a member of the old town planning commission which recommended against the fountain circle. It should never have been there in the first place."

Ald. M. E. Mooney: "As far as I am concerned we'll have to do something—just what I don't know yet."

Ald. Brent Murdoch: "It should remain the way it is until we have a suitable plan. There's nothing in this year's budget to take care of it. It should be done properly with an underpass."

Ald. Don Smith called the present roundabout a "nuisance." He said, "Council hasn't been decisive in the past. We should seal off the Gorge Government entrances for a 30-day trial." He added that the public works meeting Tuesday was slated to discuss traffic generally and he intended to push for action on the roundabout.

RESERVE COMMENT

Ald. Arthur Dowell said he would reserve comment until he heard what the traffic engineering department had to say. (The system was devised by Robert Doble, former traffic engineer. Since he resigned recently, the department has been unassigned.)

Aldermen Geoffrey Edgelow and W. F. Pinfold were out of town today. Only Ald. Robert Macmillan was against altering the present traffic system. He believes it can be made to work through installation of traffic lights a few blocks on each side of the roundabout which would feed traffic to the circle alternately.

He also states that the approaches should be fenced and the driving public educated to use the right lane for individual routes. "Spend $1,000 rather than tearing it all out at great expense and there would be terrific improvement."

Today's Races Will Benefit Solarium Fund

Queen Alexandra Solarium Building Fund will benefit from today's charity racing card at Sidney's Sandown Park.

The track will turn over net proceeds from the eight scheduled harness races to the building fund, which will go toward a new Solarium at a Gordon Head site.

The provincial government has approved remission of amusement tax for the "Solarium Day" meet, and government officials said they would consider remission of part of the tax when application is made.

Today's racing starts at 5 p.m., with a $60

SHOPPING GUIDE

New Career Girl Blouses
In Pleasing Paisley Prints

By PENNY SAVER

For modern-minded women who know real smartness when they see it, the eye-catching Paisley tailored blouses on sale in one of my favorite stores will prove to be a much-used accessory item. The simple, straight tailoring of these blouses is just right to show off to best advantage the intricate, designs exclusive to a well-known firm. Ones that particularly appealed to me were made of liberty lawn, soft as silk, but hard-wearing, and very practical. The French cuffs, feminine round collar and side pocket all combined to make this shirt one of the buyer's favorites. It will be yours too.

In lawn, the shirts are $9.95. You may also buy them in cotton at $17.95 and wool challis at $18.50. They'll last for years, and will never lose their smartness and comfortable yet practical qualities.

I came across some material today that is so terrific I must tell you about it. It's made in France and it's a wool broadcloth. The very fine weave gives a shorn-velvet effect, and it's so soft that you can hardly believe it's dress material. Width is 52 inches, and it costs $11.95 a yard. It comes in Dior blue, kingfisher turquoise, cinnamon brown and jet.

After a hearty meal, nothing is so nice as a light pudding cake. There's no need to fuss and scurry around making it either, 'cause now you can buy a puddin' cake mix that takes only one minute to mix and 20 minutes to bake. You simply add milk, and in no time, there it is. Four to six servings in a package for just 39 cents.

For an attractive bathroom accessory, you'll love the little pink fish nail brush and matching bath brush I've found. They're made of plastic. The handle of the bath brush extends to a perky fish tail, and of course, the brush end is the fish's head.

There's a little red-lipped mouth, green eyes and smoothly molded scales. The nail brush is a smaller version with the brush mainly the fish's head. Bristles are firm, without being too harsh, and they're a snow white. The bath brush is $1.59, while the nail brush is 49 cents. A very thoughtful gift for showers, birthdays or even for yourself.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Lacking in Vitamin C?
Fruit Juice Will Help

The truth of the old saying "We are what we eat," and "We dig our graves with our teeth," is becoming more evident every day we live. As more and more is learned about nutrition, its importance in happy and successful living is impressed on us in a serious way. We cannot afford not to learn all we can about this subject if we hope to remain youthful for as long as possible, to skip the chronic diseases of mature years and to live to a vital old age.

Surveys have shown that the average person is most likely to be deficient in vitamins B and C. Of late, more information about the importance of vitamin C has been emphasized. A lack in this vitamin has been correlated with bleeding gums and fatigue, while a high level intake seems to have a happy effect on the blood vessels. Often women who bruise easily can overcome this tendency with a stepped-up vitamin C intake.

Recently, some interesting research has been conducted by Dr. Carl V. Moore at Washington University School of Medicine. It seems that more food iron is absorbed when fairly large amounts of citrus fruit juice are taken along with food. These juices are our richest source of vitamin C.

It also is interesting to know that those who were deficient in iron reacted with a great speed-up in iron assimilation when citrus juice was taken.

This gives us another tool with which to fight anemia and another lead with which to improve our health and looks. We so often fail to get our essential daily quota of this vitamin, because while it is widely spread through the food world it occurs in very small quantities (except for the citrus fruits and a few foods).

If you would like to have my leaflet "Vitamin Defence," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 37 to Josephine Lowman, 10-18, 4752 10-18, in care of this newspaper.

Donations—A sum of $30 was donated at meeting of the Happy Valley Women's Institute to send two Belmont High School students to the United Nations seminar at University of British Columbia in August. A donation of $3 was made to the iron lung fund to help purchase an exercise table for the use of post-polio patients. Mrs. A. Mills contributed $11.35 to the building fund and Mrs. A. Silman $7. Plans were made for the annual strawberry tea to be held on July 14 at the home of Mrs. H. Drummond, Sooke Road, with a home cooking and a sewing stall and a contest to decide the winner of a quilt made by Mrs. R. Osterlin. Money from this contest will be used for the building fund to complete the institute room.

Family Harmony
Worth An Effort

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

It is always unfortunate when there are hard feelings in a family. Unpleasantness, however, can be avoided if the matter is handled properly.

(Q) "My daughters-in-law have become antagonistic toward me because I do not visit much with them for the simple reason they like to drink a lot and we do so only moderately. Also, I entertain only occasionally. They have resorted to pulling dirty tricks on my daughter and me and making snide remarks. I have come to the point where I refuse to have anything to do with them. My daughter shows the strain, and her husband does not help the situation. She lives near them and I don't, so this affects her more than it does me. What would you suggest as a remedy? Sometimes I think that being too co-operative with people spoils them, for when you aren't they show their nasty side."

(A) The only remedy I can suggest is that you take the initiative in burying the hatchet. You may not care much for your daughters-in-law or approve of what they do but after all, they are your sons' wives. You surely do not want to cut yourself off from your sons or cause a real rift in the family.

Instead of refusing to have anything to do with them, why not plan a family gathering and see if you cannot create an atmosphere of family harmony? You may not like to drink much, but they are grown women and you should permit them to do what they want, just as you do what you want.

Above all, do not show them that you disapprove of their behavior. That is what has made them resentful toward you and your daughter.

As an older person, you are not expected to entertain as much or as elaborately as young people do. You can have a simple family picnic or informal supper where all members of the family get together. Then, when the winter holidays come, such as Thanksgiving or Christmas, why not suggest that the whole family get together and celebrate as a unit?

Tours Italy By Motor Coach

Miss Winnifred Ellis, who left Victoria in early January for an extended trip that has taken her to Hawaii, back to Los Angeles and across the southern states then up the Atlantic seaboard to Washington, D.C., New York and from there to the British Isles and the continent, is just completing a two-week motor coach tour of Italy. This tour included a visit to the Isle of Capri, Ponzen and Sorrento. She is expected back in Victoria in the early autumn.

Attend Saturday Wedding

Among out-of-town guests who attended the wedding of Miss Beth Keirs and Mr. F. G. Browne Saturday evening, were Mr. and Mrs. G. Vater and family, Chemainus; Mr. and Mrs. C. Egan and family, Courtenay; Mr. and Mrs. C. Cameron and Mr. H. Cooper, Lake Cowichan; Mr. and Mrs. D. Pederson, Mrs. S. McLennan and Mr. G. McLeod, all of Vancouver.

Honeymoon in Portland

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ernest Anderson were married in a civil ceremony recently in the Parliament Buildings by marriage commissioner, Mr. Robert J. McConnell. The bride is the former Miss Sylvia Tovey, only daughter of Mrs. Edgar Earl Tovey, 3110 Carman Street, and her groom, the son of Mr. William E. Anderson, 3226 Doncaster Drive. A beige suit with white accessories, and a tiny white lace hat was the bride's wedding outfit. Following their honeymoon in Portland, Ore., the young couple will live in their new home on Knight Avenue.

Vacationing in Oregon

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cozens and party are vacationing at Seaside, Ore., and are staying at the Wildwood Court there.

B.C. House Register

Many Victorians have visited B.C. House, London, Eng., during the last week. Among those whose names are on the register are Mr. and Mrs. H. G. McWilliams, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Derrick Lachlan, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Boyd, Mrs. D. S. Higson, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Carter, Mrs. F. Reid and Mr. Gordon Reid. Also visiting were Mr. and Mrs. A. McFarlane, Miss M. L. Hannah, Mrs. George Wilson, Captain and Mrs. H. W. Burton, Mr. Robert C. Lang, Mr. Arthur P. Dawe and Master Michael Dawe, and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bigwood. Canon H. St. J. Payne was from Sidney, as was Mrs. F. Clifford Adams. Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bleathman from Royal Oak also signed.

Saturna Barbecue

Many Victorians traveled to Saturna Island last week-end by private boats and yachts to attend the annual lamb barbecue there. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Detwiler with their small sons, Gordon and Douglas, aboard the Teal; Mr. and Mrs. George Masters and their son Tommy with Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wyatt, on the Gannet II; Mr. Fred Pollard on the Panda II with Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Chapman, Miss Janet Chapman, Peter Chapman, David Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Wood and their children and Cmdr. Hew Paterson.

Mr. Vic Griffin, commodore of the Capital City Yacht Club was there on the Hi-Seas, with Mrs. Griffin, their nephew, Laurie Walker, a visitor from Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. M. Mainwaring and their sons, Barry and Brian. Dr. and Mrs. Calvin Foot had Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Campbell with them aboard the Razor Point. Mr. and Mrs. Art Saunders were on the Isabella L.

Among others seen at the barbecue were Mr. and Mrs. H. German, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gladwell, Mr. and Mrs. T. Harman, Capt. and Mrs. W. Merston, Miss Dora Payne, Mrs. Peggy Bolton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bayliss, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rice and Dr. and Mrs. Mercer.

Hawaiian Holiday

Miss Maureen Bromley left by plane recently for a month's vacation in Honolulu, where she will be a guest at the Islander Hotel. She is the daughter of Capt. and Mrs. W. J. Bromley, 2776 Dewdney Avenue.

Month in Victoria

Mrs. D. R. Blade flew from her home in Oakland, Calif., on the weekend to spend the month of July in Victoria with her mother, Mrs. C. W. Bradshaw at 1249 Fort Street.

Visitors in London

Damgaard-Boulton Vows

Summer flowers were placed in First United Church for the recent wedding of Elizabeth Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Edward Boulton, 1144 Chapman Street, and John S. Damgaard, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Damgaard, 558 Cornwall Street. Dr. W. G. Wilson officiated, and Mrs. R. Krueger sang "O Perfect Love," accompanied by Mr. R. Krueger.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of imported white lace posed over champagne satin in period style, fashioned with tiny sleeves and bateau neckline outlined with pearl sequins. Her dainty Elizabethan headpiece held a fingertip veil of matching lace. Red roses, white sweet peas and stephanotis were in her crescent bouquet.

Mrs. S. Alexander was matron of honor for her sister, in a pastel green net over taffeta gown with strapless brocade bodice and peplum. Mrs. M. Pretty was bridesmatron, in a mauve dress in similar style. Miss Janice Hunter was a demure flower girl in a pale pink organza frock, and carried a small basket of spring flowers. Senior attendants carried crescent bouquets of pink carnations.

Michael J. Pretty was best man, and ushers were Reg. Parby and Stanley Bell.

A three-tier cake in a mist of tulle, and decorated with rosebuds centred the bride's table at the reception which followed at the home of the bride's parents.

A lace cloth covered the table, and white candles in silver holders flanked the cake. Lance J. Muirhead, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast to her happiness.

For her going away outfit, Mrs. Damgaard chose a beige three-piece suit with white straw hat, avocado shoes and purse, and a corsage of Tallisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Damgaard will live at 1517 Cedar Glen Road.

SC Auxiliary Garden Fete

Gaily-colored pennants decorated the grounds at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Glenn, 677 Island Highway, Langford, Saturday, for the first social gathering arranged by the Belmont-Langford Social Credit Women's Auxiliary. The garden fete was opened by Mrs. H. Bruch, wife of Esquimalt's M.L.A., who was introduced by the president, Mrs. S. J. Gardner. Mrs. Bruch was presented with a corsage bouquet.

Tea was served on the lawn at individual tables centred with bouquets of summer blooms. Supervising the tea and assisting in welcoming the guests, among whom were visitors from Duncan, Saanich and Victoria, were the hostess, Mrs. J. E. Glenn, Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. W. J. Baker, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. D. Robb was in charge of the table of home baking and Mrs. S. Sawyer was assisted at the superlative table by Misses Barbara Glenn, Mary Thorpe and Carol Mickelsen. Miss L. M. A. Savory was in charge of tea tickets. The sum of $75 was realized.

Assist at Garden Party

Mrs. H. A. Bowden, left, is general convener of the annual garden party arranged by the Women's Parish Guild of St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, and to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Wootton, 1255 Victoria Avenue on Tuesday. Mrs. J. J. Harris, centre, is in charge of a fruit, flowers and vegetable stall, and Miss F. W. Price, the superfluities. The dogs are in a group from Heatherbelle Kennels, owned by Mrs. H. W. Mellish, that will perform twice during the afternoon. There will be stalls of knitting, sewing and handweaving, books, bottles, aprons, delicatessen, home cooking and candy, also afternoon tea. The affair will be opened at 2.30 p.m. by Archbishop H. E. Sexton.

Browne-Keirs Vows Heard In St. Alban's Church

In a ceremony in St. Alban's Church Saturday evening, Miss Elizabeth (Beth) Mary Keirs, became the bride of Francis George Browne. Rev. W. E. Greenhalgh performed the ceremony for the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Keirs, Myrtle Avenue, and her groom, White carnations and roses, peonies and pinks were placed on the altar, and pink rosebuds and white pinks marked the guest pews. "O Perfect Love" was sung by Miss Grace Adams, during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her wedding gown of white lace over satin, the hoop skirt of tiered lace and net and lace jacket featuring lily point sleeves. Her lace and tulle headpiece held her fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and white carnations. For something old she had her grandmother's blue pendant.

Miss Patricia Keirs was maid of honor for her sister and wore a blue lace and net frock over taffeta with matching lace jacket and the bridesmaid, Miss

Team Forms Guard of Honor For Mr. and Mrs. Dehen

Members of Victoria Girls' Drill Corps formed a guard of honor on the steps of St. John's Church Thursday evening, as Mr. and Mrs. John William Dehen left, following their wedding.

The bride is the former Miss Eileen Kuusinen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ilmari Kuusinen, 3886 Saanich Road, and her groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Dehen, 2084 Milton Street. White and pink gladioli and blue iris were placed on the altar, and during the signing of the register, Frederick Chubb played organ selections by Bach and Mendelssohn. Canon George Biddle officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white lace and net over taffeta. Clusters of flowers were applied on the three-tiered skirt of net edged in lace and the strapless lace bodice was topped with a matching long-sleeved jacket featuring a stand-up collar. Her floor-length veil bordered in the same lace was attached to a taria of seed pearls and her only jewelry was the groom's gift of a triple strand of pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of gladioli interspersed with stephanotis and pink rapture roses.

A gown of blue lace fashioned with three-quarter-length sleeves and very full skirt was worn by Mrs. June Wouchuck who was matron of honor for her sister. A head-hugging pink flower bandeau with tiny face veil, and pink gloves completed her ensemble and she carried a spray of pink and blue carnations.

Miss Shirley Dikden and Miss Marian Blakeney, bridesmaids, wore identical dresses in shades of yellow and turquoise, respectively. Their bouffant floor-length skirts were of net and their bodices were topped by tiny lace jackets with bracelet.

length sleeves and stand-up collars. Bouteaux and gloves in shades of mauve and yellow offset their gowns as did the colonial bouquets of yellow and turquoise carnations which they carried.

Mr. Ernest Norton was groomsmen and ushering guests to pews marked with pink rosebuds were Mr. Grant Paterson and Mr. Howard Sadler.

Mr. Melvin Knudsen proposed the toast to the bride at the reception held in the Olde England Inn. Pink roses in silver bowls flanked the triple-tier wedding cake decorated on the top and at each corner with pink rosebuds in a horseshoe design.

For the honeymoon which will be spent in Nevada and California, the new Mrs. Dehen chose a navy blue suit with bead trim on lapels and pockets, white accessories and a rose shortie coat. Her corsage was white feathered carnations and a gardenia.

End-of-Term Recital

Solos, duets, trios double piano duets and quartets were enjoyed by friends and relatives of pupils of Mrs. Phyllis Hazzard in a recent recital. Among those taking part were Susan Stevenson, Judy Flack, Jack Hale, Myrtle and Diane Curry, Allan and Margaret Tarbet, Joyce Price, Arlene McClean, Dorothy Clark, Joan McKinty, Glenda Fay Kaiser, Leonard Hughes, Shirley and Jean Reason, Janet Fox, Kathleen Painter, Ruth Graham and Lorraine Smith. Prizes for regular attendance were awarded to Shirley and Jean Reason, Kathleen Painter, Judy Flack, Ruth Graham and Margaret Tarbet. Refreshments were served.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

TUESDAY, JULY 5, 1955

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) — Officials and partners both likely to be stubborn with hang-over of wishful desire to be off on jaunt. Keep your feet solidly on ground despite temptation to throw tact to wind and express your sharp views.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) — Difficulty in getting into the groove again should not be allowed to make you drop duties you've accepted, are obliged to attend. Stop procrastinating and do them. Then they are behind you once and for all. Be steadfast.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Desire for more fun is all right, just so you don't open your purse and let your assets go flying away on temporary delights. Stick to economical expenditures. They are just as satisfactory.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) — One at home just does not understand outside contact who is important to your material, worldly advancement. Keep various parts of your life separate today to prevent ominous situation from developing. Then all's well.

LEO (July 22 to August 21) — Stop looking at your chores with resentment. Instead think up more pleasant way of attending them. Fine for getting suggestions from business associates, kin, neighbors. Then tensions ease noticeably.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22) — Keep your mind focused upon interesting ways to gain your point by showing you understand ways to keep charming, entertaining at little cost. Stay within sensible budget already worked out in your mind or on paper.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) — You are so close to your own standpoint that you do not understand why close companion is acting in certain manner. Stand off and view him or her more impersonally. Then you clearly see reason for attitude and new accord follows.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) — Avoid giving any power or importance to some limiting condition. Instead spend your time considering fundamentally sound procedures by which your usual tasks can be finished each day. Support co-workers now.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) — Very understanding friend will at least give you benefit of friendship despite pressures of financial nature that make others seem shallow, disinterested, un-sympathetic. Stay close to devoted admirers today.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) — You have interesting idea to state to one in power. If it's a criticism, await a more favorable day or you'll have quick resentment followed by loss of prestige. Go after long-range hopes in conservative fashion.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) — Brighter star beams for you in new viewpoints expressed from whatever medium is available at your fingertips. Refuse to be held down by old tiresome duty. Get new, electric, magnetic attitude now.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) — Serious-minded admirer has answer to your enigma, which no amount of money expended will solve. Sidestep following inaccurate hunch and listen to this devotee, who shows you your path clearly.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TUESDAY... Tuesday's child is one of those interesting youngsters who will always seem to be ricocheting between an over-preoccupation about money at one moment and having a thoroughly good time, regardless of consequences, the next. However, you can handle this quite intelligently in early life by giving sound training in both business and art. By so doing, your child will appreciate both and will be able to combine the two parts of the nature in some congenial work—such as entertainment, amusement, adornment, occupations.

BIG BOON TO BAFFLED BRIDEGROOMS

She's Always a Bridal Adviser But Never a Bride

By TONY DICKSON
Met a charming woman to-day who brought out the gypsy in me.

She's Miss Claire Dreier, bridal consultant for Eaton's in Toronto. This means she handles wedding arrangements—almost 20,000 in the last 18 years.

One of the most interesting weddings the mauve-and-grey-haired lady recalls is the gypsy wedding. The groom must pay for the bride. If the groom, being a heel, reneges on the payment made the bride's father, daddy can demand daughter's return, an easy out for the groom.

The bridal consultant idea was a Miss Dreier original. "If I'd patented it, I'd be a rich old girl by now," she laughs.

She's handled all types of weddings—Jewish, Buddhist, and run-of-the-churches types. The service is free "whether they spend $50 or $50,000."

Idea of the consultancy is that service, graciously given, brings its own rewards—to Eaton's, of course. "It's a million dollar business."

If a baffled male stumbles into the consultancy service, and says he wants to get married, Miss Dreier and staff handle arrangements, such as lining up clergy, wedding invitations, receptions, and even go so far as to feed food in the "frig" when the couple arrive home from the honeymoon. They provide everything but the bride.

Males are more nervous than brides, says this veteran of the long, last walks to the altar.

Several grooms have passed out cold during the thousands of weddings she has arranged, but no brides.

"I even carry smelling salts in my bag to bring them to." With all these people getting hitched, and pardon the personal question, why aren't you married Miss Dreier?

"That," she says, "is a long story." After nearly two decades in the business, she's as enthusiastic as ever. "I love the work. It's my baby, and I'm very jealous."

Brides today are more practical than in the past. They buy wedding dresses that can be used again—not for another wedding but as semi-formals. While grandmother used to stash the gown away in mothballs, today's blushing type shucks such sentimentality.

Jewish and Greek weddings provide the best food.

Odd things happen at weddings, like the six-year-old boy in formal tails who smoked, from a silver cigarette case, or the grandfather who died in the middle of a speech (the bride was told he had merely fainted); or when jeeps had to be used to remove the snow from marquees and blow torches to remove the glare ice at an expensive wedding in Toronto; (detectives guarding the hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of defunct mink at some of the posher nuptials).

In case you still want to marry, and plan a reception, it takes five square feet of space per guest. The Eaton's service goes so far as to build special temporary rooms on houses to handle the herds! Miss Dreier visited Eaton's here today during her first trip to Victoria, will spend three days in Vancouver and then head for the stampede in Calgary.

BRIDES ARE BUSINESS of Miss Claire Dreier, consultant for Eaton's, Toronto, in items for nuptial.

Victorian Dies In Head-First Dive to Street

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 28-year-old Victorian father-plunged to his death here Friday in a head-first dive to the pavement from his hotel porch-front.

Russel Thorberg, whose wife and baby son live here, was pronounced dead on arrival at hospital, minutes after a witness saw the fatal leap.

A friend of the dead man told police Thorberg had been despondent for some time and had taken an overdose of sleeping pills Thursday. Friday, several men including the suicide victim, were having a drink in the hotel room when Thorberg got up and walked to the porch. An eyewitness told police he looked up to see a man "poised as if to dive."

"I thought he was fooling," said clothier Harvey Sinder, "but the next thing I knew he was going head first towards the pavement."

Seriously Sick

Stricken by heart ailment Saturday Democrat Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, 46, of Texas, is in "serious condition." As majority leader in the Senate, Johnson was strikingly successful in convincing the Democrat majority to largely support Republican president Dwight Eisenhower's legislative program.

City RCAF Officers Summer Graduates

Three RCAF officers with homes in Victoria are among 50 officers to graduate this summer from the RCAF's staff college in Toronto. They are Squadron Leader R. Bellis, who is posted to air force headquarters in Ottawa; Squadron Leader W. Davis, posted to Allied Air Forces Central Europe Headquarters, Fontainebleau, France; and Squadron Leader W. H. Muncy, to air force headquarters. Officers are sent each September to the college for a nine-month course in advanced tactics fitting them for higher staff appointments.

Russian Chess Master Meets His Master

MOSCOW (AP)—Samuel Reshevsky Sunday topped Russia's Mikhail Botvinnik from his perch as undisputed master of world chess.

Reshevsky and Botvinnik drew the third of their four-game series in the Russia-United States match. This means that Botvinnik cannot win. The most he can do is tie the series by winning the final game Tuesday.

The two tied the first and third games and Reshevsky won the second. Until Sunday, Botvinnik generally was considered unbeatable.

Laprade Reinstated

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (CP)—Edgar Laprade, a crafty centre and one of the most gentlemanly players in big-league hockey during an era in which he said the game put brawn before brains, is back in the amateurs.

The 35-year-old former star with New York Rangers of the National Hockey League has received his amateur card from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and will be eligible to play this winter with Lakehead teams.

BIG BUSINESS

Sweden's Co-operative Union had a turnover of about $500,000,000 in 1954.

Craig expect to invite tenders on the project, estimated at $500,000, by July 15. Besides the classrooms there will be a combined gym and auditorium. School will be located near Interurban and Burnside Roads.

City Detective Leaving Force After 31 Years

A veteran of 31 years with the city police force will retire July 12.

Detective P. W. Richards, a detective for 16 of his 31 years police work, will leave the force on that date—his 60th birthday. Fellow officers will honor his retirement and birthday July 13.

Power Commission Plant Is Hazard, Says Fire Chief

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—A power plant built jointly by the B.C. Power Commission and the city violates fire regulations, fire chief August Dornbier said today.

"Walls of the structure, which houses a 1,000-kilowatt diesel generator, are made of paper board, easily impregnated by inflammable fumes from the engines," he said. The building is an annex to the original structure.

Death in Vancouver Caused By Alcoholism

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police said the death of a 48-year-old Toronto woman Friday was caused by alcoholism following a week-long party in an east end home.

Police identified the woman as Mrs. Anne Gustafson. She was unconscious in a Windermere street house and was dead on arrival at hospital.

Body Recovered

RICHMOND, B.C. (CP)—The body of William Ellis, missing since June 9 when he fell from the federal barge King Edward into the Fraser River, has been recovered. RCMP announced here Friday.

The body was found at the mouth of the Fraser.

English Name Test Side

LONDON (Reuters)—England's team for the third Test against South Africa, starting at Old Trafford, Manchester next Thursday, was announced Sunday as follows:

Peter May (Surrey) captain, Trevor Bailey (Essex), Colin Cowdrey (Kent), Denis Compton (Middlesex), Godfrey Evans (Kent), Tom Graveney (Gloucestershire), Don Kenyon (Worcestershire), Brian Statham (Lancashire), Fred Titmus (Middlesex) and Frank Tyson (Northamptonshire).

This team shows three changes from the side which won the second Test at Lords, where England gained a lead of 2-0 in the five-match series. Cowdrey, Kent's star amateur batsman who did well for England on the last Australian tour, and bowlers Lock and Tyson, take over for Ken Barrington (Surrey), Johnny Wardle, and Fred Trueman (Yorkshire).

Twelfth man for the first two days will be Mawcolum Hilton (Lancashire), and W. G. Parkhouse (Glamorgan) will take over for the remainder of the match.

Grey Cup Cavalcade

VANCOUVER (CP)—A pre-game cavalcade, designed to outdo any other parade in the city's history, will wind its way through Vancouver streets Nov. 26, the Grey cup football parade committee disclosed Saturday.

Frank Baker, chairman of the parade committee, said the parade will be planned as one unit by collaborating display firms to preserve the themes of football, east-west rivalry and "Canadiana."

Exhibitors will be offered basic float designs which will fit into one or more of these themes. Football clubs across Canada will be asked to approach their city councils to enter floats.

ISLAND DIGEST

22 Victoria Daily Times MONDAY, JULY 4, 1955

WOLF CUB LEADERS received pennants from Assistant Commissioner Francis Naish at Saanichton rally, attended by more than 100 Cubs and leaders and many spectators. They were, from left, Mr. Naish, William

Honors Shared In Chemainus Flower Show

CHEMAINUS—Mrs. D. Bonde and S. F. Best carried off the major portion of trophies and prize money in the annual flower show sponsored by Chemainus Garden Club.

Mrs. Bonde won the Clarke and Son trophy for the highest number of points in the show. She also captured the Canadian Bank of Commerce trophy for perennials and the Dwyer trophy for annuals or biennials.

Mr. Best won the Coles trophy for the best rose in the show; leader trophy for floral arrangement; Canadian Bank of Commerce trophy and a special prize of six rose bushes.

SPECIAL PRIZES
Other trophy and special prize winners were: Crucifix trophy, six exhibition roses, W. G. Tully; Willow Hardware trophy, six decorated roses, W. G. Tully; Twin trophy, bowl arrangement of roses Mrs. E. Higgs; Clement trophy, floral arrangement, off centre, W. H. Olsen; Humbird trophy decorated table, Mrs. C. W. Gordon; Urton trophy, six roses, any kind Mrs. V. Dick; Garden Club prize $5, best arrangement, Mrs. G. C. Saunders.

Show judges were: general section, Fred Rumble, Saltair; roses, W. Waldon Duncan; decorative section, Mrs. T. Sandys-Wunch and Mrs. C. Green, Duncan.

Church Auxiliary Gifts Welcomed

LADYSMITH—Gifts donated by the Women's Auxiliary to St. John's Anglican Church were acknowledged at the first meeting of the auxiliary in the new parish hall.

One letter described the use of old Christmas cards sent to a leprosy in Formosa, and the second gave thanks for articles sent to the mission hospital at Akavik.

Because of the number of activities scheduled, the auxiliary will not disband for the summer season. A corporate Communion has been planned for July 10.

Annual Picnic Held For Sunday School

LADYSMITH—Annual picnic of Saltair Sunday school was held at Ivey's Green park.

Winners of sports events were Margaret Rafter, Natalie Clark, Wendy Hutchinson, Betty Birrell, Janice Holland, Barry Cozens, Grant Sundquist, Karen MacIntosh, Barrie Newfield, May Stanton, Randi Grier, Ronnie Maddin, Kent Yaniv, Lynn Cozens, Judy Roy, Eddie Stanton, Jimmy Sunquist, Karen Holland, Diane Nelson, Mike Kotilla, Jimmy Irvine, Gail Kotilla, Linda Grant, Cliff Chamberlain, Billy Newfield, Janice Holland, Grant Sundquist, Tommy Tames, Bobby Wilcox, Mrs. Holland and Ray Chamberlain.

Duncan New Headquarters For Up-Island Sea Cadets

CHEMAINUS—Headquarters of the local sea cadet corps and the Navy League will move to Duncan in September.

Chemainus Branch of the League has been reconstituted as the Cowichan district branch of the Navy League of Canada. The move to reorganize the branch was made for several reasons, according to William Fyfe of Chemainus, a member of the newly-formed executive and who will act as sea cadet committee chairman.

The Chemainus branch was formed in July, 1952, and one of its first moves was to establish the local sea cadet corps which at that time was part of the Nanaimo corps. In the past three years, local interest in both the cadet corps and the Navy League has waned.

While new recruits from Ladysmith, Duncan, Cobble Hill, and other outlying areas have

Capt. Townsend Spurs Pal's Bay To Race Triumph

MALMOE, Sweden (AP)—Group Capt. Peter Townsend spurred a borrowed golden Swedish bay to a clear win over a field of 17 other amateur riders, including Aly Khan, in an international race Sunday.

Townsend, the handsome British air attaché at Brussels, whose name has been linked romantically with that of Princess Margaret, pressed Rock, his five-year-old stallion, borrowed from a Swedish friend, into an early lead. He won by two lengths over E. Tideman-Johannsen of Denmark, with Aly Khan finishing fourth, another four lengths back.

Mill Bay League Will Protest Rendering Plant

MILL BAY—A protest against establishment of a rendering plant on Cedar creek by a Vancouver firm will be lodged with the government by Mill Bay Community League.

Members agreed at their last meeting that the proposed plant would be in close proximity to Bay View School, Queen Alexandra Solarium water supply, and several restaurants.

They claimed the plant would cause pollution of water, and would be a source of bad odors that would lower property values in the district.

Galiano Island Forms Social Credit Group

GALIANO ISLAND, B.C. (CP)—The first Social Credit league has been formed in this district.

Officers elected Saturday were B. P. Russel, president; Stanley Pay, vice-president; Mrs. D. Jackson, secretary-treasurer.

Works Minister W. N. Chant, in addressing the initial meeting of the group, spoke on Social Credit monetary theories.

Youbou Lad Drowned In Cowichan Lake

Body of Seven-Year-Old Recovered After Four-Hour Search Sunday By Residents

LAKE COWICHAN—Anthony Brown, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Brown of Youbou, was drowned in Cowichan Lake Sunday evening not far from his home.

The boy was missed from his play at about 6 p.m. His body was found at 10 p.m. by Ben Irving, one of a large number of residents that assisted Mr. and Mrs. Brown in searching for the child.

After the parents gave the alarm that the child was missing, the hunt went on both ashore and on the lake.

RCMP here are continuing an investigation today. An inquiry will be held later this week under the direction of Coroner J. H. Boyd.

The boy's father is employed by B.C. Forest Products at Youbou.

Boat Refloated At Active Pass

GALIANO ISLAND—The tug Great Northern No. 5, that ran aground on rocks near Active Pass, was refloated by the Salvage Queen of Victoria.

The mishap, on the southwest shore of Galiano island, opposite St. Helen's point lighthouse, was blamed on fog that shrouded the coastline.

IWA Official Raps Emphasis On Automation

PORT ALBERNI—Increase in the number of automatic machines in the lumbering industry was deplored by Jack Moore, financial secretary of Local 135, IWA.

He spoke in connection with the laying off of a third shift of about 100 men at the Alberni Pacific mill of MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. It was made possible through the installation of new machinery at the mill.

Mr. Moore said only 18 additional men will be needed to operate the new machine, and that new devices being introduced into plywood plants are reducing staffs constantly.

Labor unions, he said, must convince mill operators that their responsibility in maintaining employment and avoiding subsequent economic problems exceeds that to their shareholders.

All the men released from the AP third shift will be absorbed into other operations of the company.

Bear Grabs Child

Posse Hunts
Animal Which
Attacked Man

LIBBY, Mont. (AP) — More than 250 heavily-armed men combed the rugged Kootenai forest south of here today for a bear which apparently snatched a two-year-old girl from her family's tent near a logging camp Sunday.

Undersheriff Ole Fagerberg identified the child as Ida May Curtis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer E. Curtis of Deer Lodge, Mont.

Fagerberg quoted Mrs. Curtis as telling this story of the incident:

Two older Curtis children were playing near the tent while the family was having a picnic.

Suddenly, the youngsters screamed they had seen a bear come out of the shelter "hopping on three legs."

Mrs. Curtis rushed into the tent and discovered the child was missing. When she ran outside the bear had disappeared into the wilderness.

"She didn't see the child in the tent, so she took it for granted the bear had gotten it," Fagerberg said.

FIND BLOODSTAINS
Bloodstains were found in the tent, he added.

He said authorities had not been able to determine what type of bear it was, its size or color.

Fagerberg said all available men—sheriffs' officers and volunteers—were thrown into the hunt as soon as the child's disappearance was reported about 7 p.m.

Two bloodhounds were sent by truck from Deer Lodge, 300 miles from Libby. They were expected to arrive here early today.

The family was brought to Libby late Sunday night and placed in a private home after a short interview with authorities.

A bear last week attacked Edward Stark, 27, of St. Paul, Minn., in a sleeping bag at a campground in nearby Glacier National Park.

Stark suffered a torn left ear, a ripped scalp and tooth-punctures on one hand.

Thomas, Meraw Ready For Strait Attempts

Bert Leaves Pt. Angeles Early Tuesday;
Ann in First Assault Midnight Same Day

Juan de Fuca Strait will face challenges number 12 and 13 in the next two days if weather is favorable.

Persistent Bert Thomas of Tacoma will take off from the U.S. shore at a point near the Ediz Hook Coast Guard Station, at 5:25 a.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Ann Mundigel Meraw of Vancouver will leave Clover Point, foot of Moss Street, between midnight Tuesday and 1 a.m. Wednesday for her first attempt at the unconquered crossing.

Thomas' attempt will be his first on the South-North route, his fifth try in all.

Both swimmers are eligible for The Times $1,000 prize for the first person to cross the Strait in either direction.

In addition, Thomas will be trying for a Port Angeles purse of $1,800 offered to the first person to swim from the U.S. shore to Victoria.

COURSE SECRET
Mrs. Meraw's course is still secret. Her navigator will be veteran fisherman Gus Norman, who has sailed in coastal waters for nearly 40 years.

Her coach is Pat Roach of Toronto, who gives her a "50-50" change of making the swim. Sponsor is Accurate Athletic Club, also of Toronto.

Thomas' carefully charted course, planned by three U.S. navigators, call for him to leave on high-water slack; swim straight north until he catches the ebb then angle out toward Race Rocks, in the vicinity of which he hopes to catch the flood tide and ride in with it.

LOOKS GOOD
Bert said this morning: "If I can reach the turning point at the Race, I should be home free."

He made a five-mile, practice swim from Ediz Hook Sunday morning, and said "things look pretty good from this side."

Thomas had a brief workout this morning, then went down to Tacoma for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Fred Diamond.

Lead vessel in the Thomas flotilla will be the luxury yacht King Bacardi. His navigators are Capt. Loring Hyde and Capt. Douglas Nicholson of the Puget Sound Pilots' Association (cross-Strait equivalent of B.C. Pilotage Authority); and Don Lusk, Port Angeles manager of Foss Towing Company.

A re-match was being planned for this year's Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, but Jerry Ford, assistant coach of the Penn crew, reported that the crew was breaking up for the year and would not be available.

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCMP has been asked to reconsider its decision to charge higher annual rates for police protection, Davie Fulton (PC-Kamloops) told the Commons today that the higher rates will have a serious effect on many British Columbia municipalities.

60 Holiday Drownings In Tragic July 1 Toll

3 Children
Drown in B.C.;
2 Car Deaths

(By The Canadian Press)

Seven persons met violent death in holiday accidents in British Columbia during the long Dominion Day weekend—five by drowning.

Three of the drowning victims were children. Traffic accidents accounted for the other two fatalities.

Richard Oreille Hobbs, 17, of Enderby and an unidentified youth were drowned in Canim Lake in the Cariboo, 220 miles northeast of Vancouver. Hobbs failed in a bid to rescue the second youth who got into difficulties while swimming. Both bodies were recovered.

Six-year-old Ivan Tymkiw was drowned and his father rescued after a fishing mishap at Deep Cove near Vancouver.

The boy fell into a pool where the pair were fishing and the father almost lost his life in a rescue attempt. He was revived by artificial respiration.

Four hours of non-stop artificial respiration failed to revive five-year-old David Bruce Gordon of creek near Hope. He was on a Creek near Hope. He was on a fishing and camping trip with his parents.

ISLAND FATALITY
The body of Tony Brown, 7, of Youbou, was found in Lake Cowichan Sunday night after he had been missing from his home four hours.

The traffic victims were Thomas Boucher, 32, and Fred Gritchen, 21.

Gritchen, of Grand Forks, was killed when his light delivery truck hit an embankment 11 miles north of Trail. Boucher died in a head-on collision in Vancouver.

Three other persons were killed in a variety of accidents during the weekend not attributable to the holiday.

A 60-year-old logger was killed on the job at Campbell River; a 28-year-old man jumped to his Toronto woman died from alcohol poisoning after a week-long drinking party in Vancouver's east end.

Liberals Win
Another Seat

EDMONTON (BUP) — The Liberal party has now won 10 seats in the Alberta Legislature compared to 36 for the Social Credit government.

Alfred MacKay was conceded victory in the Redwater riding after the first count of ballots was completed. He had 2,214 compared to 1,738 votes for Social Credit's Peter Chaba, who held the seat in the last House.

Second counts will be necessary in 11 ridings to decide a final winner under the transferable vote system.

Britain, U.S. Unfair South African Says

Cabinet Minister Asks More Sympathetic
Consideration for Apartheid Policies

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Eric H. Louw of South Africa said today Canadian, British and American newspapers are "picking on" South Africa.

He appealed for more sympathetic consideration for his government's policy of apartheid-segregation of the black and white races.

"He told a press conference that the blacks are well treated and well looked after. But they couldn't be given the full franchise because there are five blacks for every white in South Africa and in 50 years, with the vote, they would control the country."

"We are battling to maintain the white civilization in South Africa," he said. If the black race was given the vote, white civilization would "go by the boards and it would be the end of the white man in Africa."

The UN had no right to interfere in South Africa's domestic affairs. It continued such a policy it would sow the seeds of its own disintegration.

The black population was represented by seven whites in Parliament. The whites represented the natives "far better" than black themselves could. The whites knew what the blacks wanted.

Mr. Louw said South Africa spends seven to 12 times more per capita than any other African territory on education and other social services for the natives.

On the question of South Africa's intention to become eventually a republic, Mr. Louw said this will improve relations with the United Kingdom and provide better unity between his country's two white races, Afrikaaner and British.

Mr. Louw, also South African finance minister, was to confer separately later today with Prime Minister St. Laurent, External Affairs Minister Pearson, Finance Minister Harris and Trade Minister Howe.

JAMMED BRIDGE FALLS; 2 KILLED, 5 INJURED

CHEROKEE, N.C. (UP)—Five of an estimated 100 persons thrown 15 feet onto jagged rocks of the Oconaluftee River bed when a footbridge collapsed Sunday are in critical condition today. Two others died of injuries.

The 150-foot bridge gave way shortly before noon when it was jammed with holiday tourists.

At the moment of the crash, according to those at the scene, several small boys were jumping up and down at the bridge's centre.

St. Laurent Bows On Defence Bill

Accedes to Tory Demand
For Review in 3 Years

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent today bowed to opposition demands and agreed to make it possible for any member of parliament to call for reconsideration of the wide powers of the Defence Production Act in three years' time.

ST. LAURENT CITED
Prime Minister St. Laurent was accused earlier of showing "contempt for Parliament and the press" in not entering the long debate on a bill extending indefinitely the extraordinary powers of the defence production department.

George Hees (PC, Toronto, Broadview, led-off in the Commons when the debate, marked by consistent opposition from Conservatives, entered its seventh day.

His was the 65th speech on the measure in an oft-adjourned discussion which threatens to keep Parliament in session far into the summer.

46TH SPEECH
It was the 46th Conservative speech against the bill.

"I think the prime minister, like the majority of his ministers and Liberal members in the House, has no liking for the bill," Mr. Hees said. Mr. St. Laurent was not in the House.

POTATO PRICES DOWN
It was the biggest drop in the consumer price index since October, 1953, when the yardstick also fell by one-half point to 116.2 from 116.7. Since then there have been various minor fluctuations upwards and downwards.

Tourists Stranded
Four tourists from Washington, who left Silver Sands resort at Oyster Bay Sunday in two small boats, returned to the resort today after a night in the open on Milneath Island.

They said when a strong wind sprang up they decided to head for the nearby island rather than risk a return to the camp.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eschbach, Bothell, and Klaus Sundin and William Thie, Kirkland.

Car Crashes Kill 30 On Crowded Highways; Seven Deaths in B.C.

(By The Canadian Press)

Canada's waterways took first place among the causes of fatalities during the Dominion Day week-end.

A Canadian Press survey shows that in the period from 6 p.m. Thursday until 6 a.m. today 95 persons lost their lives from causes directly attributable to holiday activity. Another 22 died in accidents not related to holiday activity.

Of the 96 holiday deaths, 69 were drownings, 30 were caused by traffic accidents and six people died from miscellaneous causes.

Ontario's fatality toll was the highest. Forty-one died in the heat-battered province during the week-end. Of these 27 drowned, 10 died in traffic accidents and four died from other causes.

Quebec had a total of 28 deaths: 20 drownings, seven traffic deaths and one man was killed while making a demonstration parachute jump to a holiday crowd.

Maritime deaths totalled 11. New Brunswick had eight—three drownings and five traffic fatalities; Nova Scotia had one traffic death. Newfoundland had one traffic and one drowning fatality. Prince Edward Island was the only fatality-free province in the country.

In the Western Provinces 16 persons died in holiday accidents. Nine drowned and seven were killed in traffic accidents.

A breakdown by provinces shows that Alberta had two drownings and three traffic deaths, Manitoba had two drownings and one traffic death, British Columbia counted four drownings and two traffic fatalities and Saskatchewan registered one traffic death.

The 22 deaths from non-holiday activities included seven industrial deaths, two murders, two suicides and three suffocations, as well as other deaths.

The highest previous fatality toll recorded in Canada was the four-day Dominion Day holiday in 1952 when 100 persons lost their lives from all causes. There were 35 traffic deaths and 34 drownings that weekend.

497 KILLED IN U.S.
CHICAGO — Traffic deaths mounted toward a new Fourth of July holiday record today as motorists by the millions jammed U.S. highways.

Latest compilation showed 280 deaths on the highways since 6 p.m. Friday. Drownings totalled 123. There were six dead in plane crashes and 88 from miscellaneous causes for an overall fatality total of 497.

Police Probe Ready
VANCOUVER (BUP) — R. H. Tupper, appointed to conduct the Royal Commission inquiry into charges of graft, corruption and misbehavior among Vancouver police officers, will begin hearings Tuesday.

These are some of the pretties that competed for the "Miss Canada" title in London, Ont., captured by Delyce Gale Smith, Whitehorse, 23-year-old and former sales girl here, fifth from left. Victoria's Doreen Wells, who captured two cups, is not in picture. Girls came from all across Canada.

'Miss Canada' Once a Victorian

Victoria's Doreen Wells Named
Canada's 'Miss Swim Suit of '55'

By TONY DICKASON
Hold it, fellas, she's back, and as "Miss Swim Suit of 1955" for Canada!

That's Victoria's pretty velvet-eyed Doreen Wells, one of the 10 finalists in the "Miss Canada" contest just ended in London, Ont., at which another former Victorian, Delyce (pronounced Dallas) Gale Smith, 23, took the top award.

Pert 18-year-old Doreen, chosen at the recent Jaycee fair here as "Miss Victoria" and the city's "May Queen," captured two awards in competition with 23 lovelies from throughout Canada.

She won both "Miss Swim Suit" and "Miss Congeniality" cups. She got off the plane here with her mother shortly after 10 a.m. and went right to work at her B.C. Telephone Co. job, although "a little tired," from the week-long festivities.

"I had a wonderful time, really wonderful, marvelous," she said.

Competition, she admitted was "tough," but agreed with the decision of the five male and three women judges that the logical choice was Delyce, who gets a $1,000 scholarship to further her drama studies. She now lives in Whitehorse, Y.T., and worked here in the lingerie department at Eatons from Nov., 1951, to May, 1952.

"Boy, was she pretty" a department employee recalled to day. "Very much so." She's a brunette, like Doreen.

Said Victoria's darling: "The competitors were nice, all of them, and there was absolutely no jealousy between the girls."

Each night the assembly of beauties put on performances in London's Queen's Park, because talents and personality also counted heavily in the judging.

Doreen's way was paid to London and return—where there was a continual round of meeting civic officials and touring other cities and towns in the area—by the Junior Chamber here.

Would you compete in another beauty contest Miss Wells?

"Well, maybe, but certainly not right away."

ATOMS FOR PEACE

Atom Railway Latest Study

(This is another in a series of 11 articles discussing the prospects and problems of harnessing atomic power to peaceful uses. The author is a distinguished science reporter who spent a year collecting the material from which the articles were written. He has written this from a U.S. point of view, but since Canada is taking a leading part in atomic production for peacetime uses the general theme applies to this country.)

By DAVID O. WOODBURY

CHAPTER VII

THE ATOM ON WHEELS

Highly speculative, but quite possible, is atomic power on the railroads. No transportation engineer, so far as we know, has yet given serious consideration to it.

However, the department of physics of the University of Utah has made a thorough study.

In 1953 their graduate course in nuclear technology, under Dr. L. B. Borst, co-operated with the AEC in initiating a railroad study.

Dr. Borst immediately put his students to work on the problem, first obtaining support from the Union Pacific Railroad, General Electric, Westinghouse, General Motors, and others expert in the field.

They found the only real economic incentive for atomic power for rail transportation comes from a possible reduction in fuel costs.

An atomic-powered locomotive was found to be technically feasible. It would be a 7,000-horsepower unit having 12 driving axles and a total length of 160 feet.

The reactor would be of the "water boiler" design, 2x3x3 feet, having an output of 30,000 kilowatts of heat, in the form of steam at 250 pounds per square inch.

Power transmission through conventional geared generators and electric traction motors would insure good operating performance. Electric locomotive performance could be achieved because of the overload ability of the reactor. Short-term power of 9,000 to 12,000 horsepower can be attained.

Rematch Plans Fail

TORONTO (BUP)—Efforts to arrange a re-match between the University of British Columbia eight and the Royal Henley Regatta-winning rowers from the University of Pennsylvania have fallen through.

A re-match was being planned for this year's Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, but Jerry Ford, assistant coach of the Penn crew, reported that the crew was breaking up for the year and would not be available.

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCMP has been asked to reconsider its decision to charge higher annual rates for police protection, Davie Fulton (PC-Kamloops) told the Commons today that the higher rates will have a serious effect on many British Columbia municipalities.
